Thieu rushes paratroops to perimeter

Saigon threatened

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The South Vietnamese government lost another district capital in the Central Highlands today and one of the bases guarding the outer western approaches to Saigon.

The government threw more than 1,000 paratroopers into the defense of its capital, rushing them to positions within 10 miles of the city on the western flanks. The reinforcements were flown down from the northern provinces around Hue which President Nguyen Van Thieu is abandoning.

Sharp fighting was reported south of Hue, the former imperial capital on the north coast. Field reports said about 80 per cent of the city's 200,000 people had fled south toward Da Nang, 40 miles down the coast.

Military sources said the district capital of Kien Duc, in the lower Central Highlands, was lost after a 500-round artillery barrage and an infantry assault. The fall of the town threatened to cost the government the entire province of Quang Duc.

The Saigon government has already written off four provinces in the highlands, Kontum, Pleiku, Darlac and Phu Bon, plus Quang Tri and Thua Thien in the north and Phuoc Long and Binh Long, north of Saigon.

Government forces have abandoned all this territory except Hue and Thua Thien, and they are in the process of pulling out of there.

In the Saigon region, tank-led North Vietnamese forces drove a militia force from the Duc Hue base camp near the Cambodian border 30 miles northwest of the capital. The Saigon command said the militiamen retreated after the attack knocked out their radio communications.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces have intensified their attacks on the provinces to the northwest and northeast of Saigon. Two district capitals have fallen in recent weeks and two provincial capitals, Tay Ninh and Long Khanh, are threatened.

The exodus of frightened civilians from Quang Tri and Hue continued down Highway 1 in a motorized stampede that took a heavy toll in casualties among the riders and walkers pouring toward Da Nang.

A mile-long column of vehicles and barefoot walkers reached the Hai Van Pass by morning, 10 miles from their goal and within sight of it. South Vietnamese troops guarded the highway.

The provinces that have been written off had a total population of nearly 2 million, or about 10 per cent of the country's total 20 million. They totaled slightly more than a fifth of South Vietnam's 66,263 square miles.

In Cambodia, the Khmer Rouge kept up its heavy attack on Neak Luong, the last government foothold on the Mekong river below Phnom Penh. But military sources said government troops killed 70 insurgents in counterattacks around the capital.

Premier Long Boret still was not able to form a new government after 10 days of political maneuvering and rivalry. He submitted a cabinet list to President Lon Nol, but the president reportedly rejected two or three of his nominees.

Ferguson said his office to date, has paid $4,968,175 to 2,165 major prize winners but urged lottery ticket holders to check their tickets for winning numbers following the weekly drawings.

He added that the state has appropriated another $12,720,000 for the 85 winners of $30,000 or more, who receive their winnings in annual installments of $15,000.

Of the 2,165 major prize winners: three have won $1 million; 29 have won $300,000; three have won $100,000; 17 have won $60,000; three have won $50,000; 30 have won $30,000; 130 have won $15,000; 21 have won $10,000; five have won $2,800; the equivalent of a pound of gold; 59 have won $2,000; 788 have won $1,000; 1,076 have won $500; and one has won $175, the equivalent of an ounce of gold.

Fayette County has had three major lottery winners with the most recent being Mrs. Barbara Queen, who won the $300,000 Buckeye 300. In contrast, Cuyahoga County has sold 389 major prize tickets, Hamilton County, 182, and Franklin County, 166.

CIA monitored mail service

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee plans to release testimony that at least two former postmasters general knew the CIA was monitoring international mail at New York's largest airport in the 1950s and 1960s.

Chairman Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., of the House civil rights subcommittee planned to release the testimony today if the Justice Department supplied no substantive objection.

No such objection had been received by closing hours Thursday night.

It was learned that the testimony asserts that former Postmasters General Arthur E. Summerfield and J. Edward Day knew the CIA was taking the mail routed through the New York City international airport to a separate building to inspect it. Now Kennedy airport, it was called Idlewild until the mid-1960s.

A former CIA employee, Melvin Crain, was to tell the subcommittee at a hearing today that CIA officials told him the mail surveillance was illegal and that former CIA Director Richard M. Helms knew about the operation.

The secret testimony was taken from Chief U.S. Postal Inspector William J. Cotter during a secret session last Tuesday following his public testimony on mail surveillance.

Coffee Break...

ALL FLOWERS and decorations at Highlawn Memory Gardens, CCC Highway-E, must be removed this week because of the annual spring cleanup, according to Nelson McCann.

THE OPEN recreation activity, sponsored by the Community Education program on Mondays and Thursdays at the Washington C. H. Middle School gymnasium, has been postponed for next week because of the Washington C. H. Jaycees annual independent basketball tournament.

THE PRE-SCHOOL vision screening clinic has been scheduled for Saturday, April 26.

The clinic, which is being held under the guidance of the Ohio Society for the Prevention of Blindness and the Fayette County Health Department, is co-sponsored by the Washington C.H. Lioness Club and the Fayette County Farm Bureau women's committee.

The Lioness Club and the Farm Bureau women's committee will announce the schedule and site for the clinic at a later date.

The primary aim of the screening program, for three to six year olds, is the discovery of amblyopia (lazy eye blindness) which can lead to permanent blindness in one eye if treatment does not begin early enough. The program is open to any preschooler in the Washington C.H. area.

TWO NURSING scholarships, worth $2,000 each, will be awarded through The Wilbur Wilton nursing scholarship fund.

Fayette Memorial Hospital administrator Robert Kunz explained one scholarship will be awarded a student studying to be a registered nurse at Fayette Memorial Hospital and the other will be awarded a registered nurse, training to become a licensed practical nurse.

Recipients of the scholarships are required to work at the hospital after completion of their training for a period of time.

Applications are now being accepted and further information can be requested from the administrator's office, by calling 335-1210, extension 201.

Kiwanis Club opens search for talented county teens

The Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club has begun its search for the top-talented teenagers of Fayette County for 1975.

Guy Foster, president of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club, has announced the eighth annual Teen Talent Show will be held April 26 in Washington C.H. Middle School auditorium at 8 p.m. for students in grades 9-12.

The bulk of the proceeds from the annual talent show will go toward financing the Kiwanis scholarship program in which four scholarships will be presented to two students from both Washington Senior High and Miami Trace High Schools.

Sixteen acts will be selected from both Washington Senior High School and Miami Trace High School applicants for the show. Edwin Nestor, teen talent selection committee chairman, and six other members will screen and choose contestants in the arts of drama, comedy, music, dancing and other areas.

Each act is not to exceed seven students altogether and will consist of talents other than scholastic ability.

Ora Burdge, chairman of the 1975 Teen Talent Show, said the annual show is sponsored by Kiwanis International and Kiwanis of Washington C.H. "to promote the talent of our youth and help them become more responsible citizens of our community."

Burdge stated that all committee assignments have been made for the preparations of the show and tickets will be sold by both Kiwanis members and those students who are members of the Kiwanis Keyclub.

U.S. officials fear for Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — In only one week, U.S. intelligence has drastically changed its Vietnam assessment and now believes the North Vietnamese offensive is having a devastating effect on South Vietnam's military position. Last week, U.S. intelligence was interpreting battlefield setbacks as not critical to the defense of the most strategic sections of the country.

But lacking enough U.S. field observers and left out of the Saigon government's advance planning, U.S. officials were surprised by the dramatic swiftness with which the South Vietnamese command abandoned the entire Central Highlands and forfeited large sections of the country.

Reflecting the changed assessment, Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger said Thursday the North Vietnamese army is embarked on a major offensive and is "proceeding to invade at a very high pace."

A week ago, Schlesinger had called North Vietnamese military activity extensive but forecast the major offensive would not come until next year.

A week ago, Schlesinger had described the unfolding North Vietnamese attacks as "an attempt to chip away at the rural areas while not coming in contact with the main strength of the ARVN (South Vietnamese) forces."

But now Schlesinger says the North Vietnamese "will attempt to tangle directly" with the South Vietnamese Army's main force.

Pentagon analysts would not have been surprised if the South Vietnamese army ultimately was forced out of the highlands, but they appear to have expected a more prolonged defense. It was the abruptness of the pullback, as much as anything, that jolted U.S. officials.

Schlesinger said South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu did not consult the U.S. government about his decision to withdraw his forces from the highlands and other areas.

On reflection, most analysts have said Thieu probably made the right move to concentrate his forces to defend the most populous and rice-productive areas of the country, principally the Saigon region and the delta to the south.

Nonetheless, Schlesinger told newsmen Thursday the outcome of this year's North Vietnamese offensive "is far more devastating" than the 1972 offensive "because the weakened position of the government and the withdrawal ... from the areas that previously had been held during the '72 offensive."

The defense secretary said the survival of the South Vietnamese government is not in doubt "at this point." But, he added, "Of course, their control of the countryside will be much shrunken." And he predicted that the North Vietnamese will "go after Saigon next year."

Like some other Ford administration officials, Schlesinger blamed Congress rather than the South Vietnamese army or the Saigon government's leadership for the deterioration.

"If we had been less niggardly in our funding of South Vietnam, the position of South Vietnam would be far better today and they would not be forced to make these withdrawals," he said.

Senate sets speedy action on tax bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is on the verge of passing a $30 billion tax cut bill designed to stimulate the economy while providing some immediate and long-term tax relief to most American families.

After removing parliamentary roadblocks and voting higher taxes on major oil companies, the Senate aimed to pass the bill today.

That schedule would allow a Senate-House conference to work out final details of the bill and have it sent to President Ford for his signature by Wednesday.

The tax relief would be felt by mid-May, when the Treasury Department would mail 1974 tax rebates of up to $240 to taxpayers across the nation.

Senators planned to consider a dozen amendments to the bill today, but the final Senate version of the tax cut is expected to provide:

—$10 billion in rebates on 1974 taxes, with almost all families assured of a minimum $120 check and a maximum $240.

—An additional $1.7 billion refund for working families whose earned income totals less than $8,000 this year. This "earned-income credit" would be 10 per cent of taxable income up to a maximum credit of $400.

This provision, which the Senate endorsed Thursday night by a 78 to 12 vote, has the effect of offsetting the Social Security tax bite on families too poor generally to pay income taxes but whose paychecks still are subject to the Social Security withholding.

—A 4 per cent reduction in the tax rate on the first $4,000 of taxable income. This $2 billion provision is aimed at providing relief to low- and middle-income families, but virtually every family would receive at least a $40 reduction in 1975 and 1976 taxes.

—An optional $200-per-person credit against taxes instead of the current $750-per-person tax exemption. Although this provision could help taxpayers who do not itemize deductions, it is designed especially to aid larger families that do itemize. The cost is $6.1 billion for 1975.

—A $100 across-the-board government payment this year to every person who receives a Social Security or railroad retirement benefit.

—A tax credit for any person who buys a new home as a principal residence between March 13 and Dec. 31 this year. The credit would equal 5 per cent of the home's purchase price, up to a maximum credit of $2,000. Thus, a person buying a $20,000 home could subtract $1,000 from his tax bill next year. Buying a home worth $40,000 or more would reduce taxes by $2,000.

—A $7 billion tax cut for business, mainly through larger tax credits allowed firms for purchasing new equipment.

The Senate cleared the way for final passage of the tax-cut bill by compromising on the treatment of oil company taxes.

Woman wins $300,000

CLEVELAND, OHIO (AP) — "I don't know what I'm going to do with the money yet, but I'm not going to quit my job. I like what I do," said Carrie Woodard after winning $300,000 in the Ohio lottery Thursday night.

Mrs. Woodard, a Cincinnati domestic worker, said her job keeps her young.

She collected a $15,000 check Thursday night as the first of 20 installments for winning the Buckeye 300 drawing.

The $30,000 second prize in the televised drawing went to Joseph Jonke of Chardon.

Four other contestants took home $15,000 prizes. They included Hubert Starks of Cincinnati; Joseph E. Plegge, Salem; Geraldine Ballard, Springfield, and Marjorie J. Fallaro, Brook Park.

The single number picked as the week's winning selection was 818 and the double number was 862 762.

Ohio House kills auto tax plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill to temporarily suspend the sales tax on motor vehicle sales in Ohio sputtered and died at the finish line in the House Thursday despite an 11th hour endorsement of sorts by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

The vote was 64-24 on a key emergency clause, that would have let it take immediate effect, with a two-thirds majority of 66 required in the 99-member chamber. Party lines collapsed for an hour of debate that led to the bill's demise after it had sailed through the Senate and two committees of each chamber in a week.

Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, said he wanted the matter disposed of to answer complaints of dealers throughout the state that customers were holding off buying cars pending action by the legislature.

The speaker said he had no advance knowledge of the bill's fate. "I at no time asked one person how he was going to vote—Democrat or Republican, therefore I had no idea," he said.

Rhodes, whose budget planners lobbied hard against the temporary suspension (until June 30) in the Ways and Means Committees of the two houses, surprised and angered Republican House opponents when he sent word at midday Thursday that he was willing to sign it.

Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, said in a floor speech that the controversial bill "obviously has divided the executive branch of the state government." Kurfess repeated claims by Rhodes' fiscal officers that the $31 million revenue loss would put the budget out of balance and that its avowed job-creating thrust was doubtful. "All it would do is give a tax break to a selected few," the minority leader said.

Rep. William J. Healy, D-50 Canton, who sponsored the bill in the House, maintained it would wipe out big car lot inventories and bolster new production, while at the same time help put an estimated 90,000 idle Ohio auto workers back on the job. The state currently is paying out $7 million a week in unemployment benefits, he said.

If it had been approved, the bill would have suspended the four per cent tax on sales of new motor vehicles—cars, trucks, trailers, farm machinery, from its effective date to midnight June 30.

Under legislative rules, there is a possibility the bill could be brought up for reconsideration, but that prospect seemed unlikely. Rhodes, for one, apparently regards it as a dead issue. He said through an aide that "the legislature has spoken."

The vote on the emergency clause—without which the bill would have been meaningless—was enough to put it to rest. However, on a subsequent roll call on the measure itself, the count was 46-42 with a constitutional majority of 50 required.

Patty Hearst identification fades away

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP) — Fremont County Sheriff John Verneti's "positive identification" of fugitive heiress Patricia Hearst in the Canon City area has faded to "something that was only a possible sighting."

Verneti said early Thursday evening that an unidentified rancher had bought lunch last week at a nearby Penrose cafe for a woman who fit Miss Hearst's description.

"We do have a positive I.D. of the young lady at this time as being Miss Hearst," he said, adding that he believed the daughter of San Francisco newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst Jr. had set off for New Mexico.

Thursday night, after Verneti's office was deluged with requests from news media for more information, he issued a statement saying, "All we have is one man who said he saw her. As it stands this individual's testimony is very shaky."

And early today he issued another statement saying, "Through a joint cooperation from the sheriff's department and the FBI, we have exhausted all leads on the Patty Hearst sighting in Fremont County."

The FBI agent from nearby Colorado Springs reported to his Denver office early today that there was no solid evidence to support the story of a 50-year-old rancher who gave Verneti a description of the woman who apparently resembled Miss Hearst.

Combodian families living in squalor

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — In Phnom Penh's sports stadium, a monument to fitness and friendly competition, the wives and children of nearly 300 Cambodian soldiers missing in action live in squalor and desperation.

The women say they are starving because they don't have the documents to show they are entitled to the allowances, controlled-price rice and other benefits of soldiers' wives or widows.

Did CIA recover nuclear torpedoes?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIA is believed to have recovered at least two nuclear torpedo warheads in its effort last summer to raise wreckage of a Soviet submarine that sank in the Pacific Ocean, The Washington Post reported today.

The newspaper said sources described recovery of the nuclear-tipped torpedoes as a major victory for U.S. intelligence.

Meanwhile, the head of the Senate's special intelligence committee said Thursday there is a chance the panel may subpoena billionaire Howard Hughes, who contracted to build and operate the mammoth oceanographic vessel which was used in the CIA submarine-raising mission.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, made the remark in response to a question at a meeting with reporters. However, an aide to Church later said: "There's no big plan to subpoena Howard."

The Post account said the two nuclear torpedo warheads retrieved were in the portion of the Soviet submarine raised northwest of Hawaii from an ocean depth of 17,000 feet by the Hughes ship Glomar Explorer, under the CIA's direction. The sub sank in 1968.

The newspaper quoted one source as commenting on the intelligence value of the reported find:

"It makes no difference that torpedo warheads are relatively small compared to missile warheads. Any kind of warhead gives us a priceless insight into their technology and their approach to solving nuclear weapons problems."

The Soviet submarine — said to be a conventional-powered G-class craft — is believed to have been fitted with three launching tubes for nuclear-armed missiles. There has been one unconfirmed report that one of the missile warheads was recovered.

The Post also said one report "being circulated by intelligence sources on the fringe of the CIA" claims the Glomar Explorer actually retrieved the entire sunken submarine rather than just one-third of it, as most other accounts have indicated.

Believe Elizabeth Carmichael arrested by Maumee police

DALLAS (AP) — Police in Maumee, Ohio, said Thursday they have a suspect in custody they believe may be Mrs. Elizabeth Carmichael, who has evaded Texas authorities since she was charged with conspiracy to commit theft in a case involving the 20th Century Motor Car Co.

Sgt. Paul Sellers of the Maumee Police Department told the Dallas Morning News that a 30-year-old woman was arrested Wednesday after a local citizen said he recognized the woman from a magazine article on the three-wheeled Revette automobile.

Sellers said the woman was being held in the city jail on a fugitive warrant pending confirmation of a

Coal gasification bill introduced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Freshman Sen. Charles L. Butts, D-23 Cleveland, has called for a constitutional change to permit Ohio to construct coal gasification plants with self-retiring revenue bonds.

He said Thursday he does not believe a bill introduced in the House by Rep. A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, can "get around" an apparent constitutional ban against using industrial revenue bonds for utilities.

Butts said he would like to join with Lancione on a constitutional amendment that would let the state build demonstration plants and perhaps help its bid to land a coal gasification plant to be built by the federal government.

The Clevelandier introduced Thursday a bill that would permit bond financing of solid waste disposal facilities.

Court to hear trial delay case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has agreed to clarify when the state's new "speedy trial" law requires the state to drop criminal prosecutions.

The court accepted an appeal from a man convicted in Wooster of drunken driving, even though his trial was delayed by a heavy docket of cases.

The prosecutor in the case took the unusual step of asking the Supreme Court to hear the defendant's appeal because of the importance of the decision to future criminal trials.

The case involves a section of the new criminal code which in most cases requires jailed criminal suspects to be brought to trial within 90 days. If the trial is delayed beyond 90 days without good reason, the charge must be dismissed.

The President signed the proclamation Thursday after signing legislation requesting him to sign the document.

old stadium, part of an ambitious sports center built partly with Chinese money.

Only minor regional games were ever played in the stadium. Now its basketball field house is an emergency surgery station for wounded coming in from the field. Thousands of war victims of one kind or another take shelter in its rooms, corridors and corners.

The aerie of the refugees from Neak Luong looks down on the playing field with 60,000 seats around it on one side, and on an Olympic-size swimming pool on the other.

Tattered laundry hangs from the flagpoles. The grand staircase is used as a toilet. Stench and flies cover the area and its hapless inhabitants.

The women don't know whether they are wives or widows. Their husbands have not been heard from since mid-February, when Khmer Rouge troops overran a Mekong River island near the Neak Luong naval base 32 miles southeast of Phnom Penh.

"Only 50 of the 350 men in our battalion escaped," said one woman.

"In February we received only half our allowance from the army," said a private's wife with a baby in her arms and tears welling in the corners of her eyes.

Most of the women don't even have papers to prove they were married to soldiers. Marriage certificates and the like cost money, and a Cambodian private is paid $7 to $8 a month.

photograph and fingerprints from the Dallas County Sheriff's Department here.

Sellers said the woman had two Texas driver's licenses, one in a man's name and one in a woman's name, and it has been confirmed she underwent a sex change operation at the University of Texas at Galveston last summer.

Sellers said neither of the licenses had the name Carmichael on it.

Lt. Harry Weatherford of the sheriff's office in Dallas confirmed he had been in touch with Maumee police and was awaiting identification information.

Mrs. Carmichael headed the 20th Century Motor Car Co., now in receivership. She and others were charged with conspiracy to commit theft by selling distributorships and taking orders on the company's "revolutionary" automobile. The company claimed the car got 70 miles per gallon. The claims have been disputed by the Dallas district attorney's office.

Bingo bill vote studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill protecting religious and charitable groups from prosecution for conducting non-profit gambling games has been sent to the House Rules Committee for assignment to a floor vote.

The bill was approved 16-1 by the House Judiciary Committee on Thursday.

The proposal would specify in the law that games of chance operated by certain tax-exempt organizations are not gambling. The classification of organizations is based on the Internal Revenue Service tax exemption statutes.

The bill is a committee substitute for a similar one introduced by Rep. Ronald H. Weyandt, D-43 Akron.

It was filed in response to court rulings that a current law allowing charitable gambling is unconstitutional.

Birth certificate curbs approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio House has overwhelmingly approved a bill that would bar unwed mothers from listing a father's name on a birth certificate without the man's signature.

The bill passed 74-14 Thursday and was sent to the Senate.

According to the sponsor, Rep. Dale Locker, D-80 Anna, under current practice "the mother may name who she chooses... and the individual named may not (necessarily) be informed." The bill would offer legal protection to alleged fathers, he said.

Ohio receives federal property

CHICAGO (AP)—Nearly $3 million in surplus federal government property was acquired by Ohio institutions in the last quarter of 1974, the U.S. Health, Education and Welfare Department said.

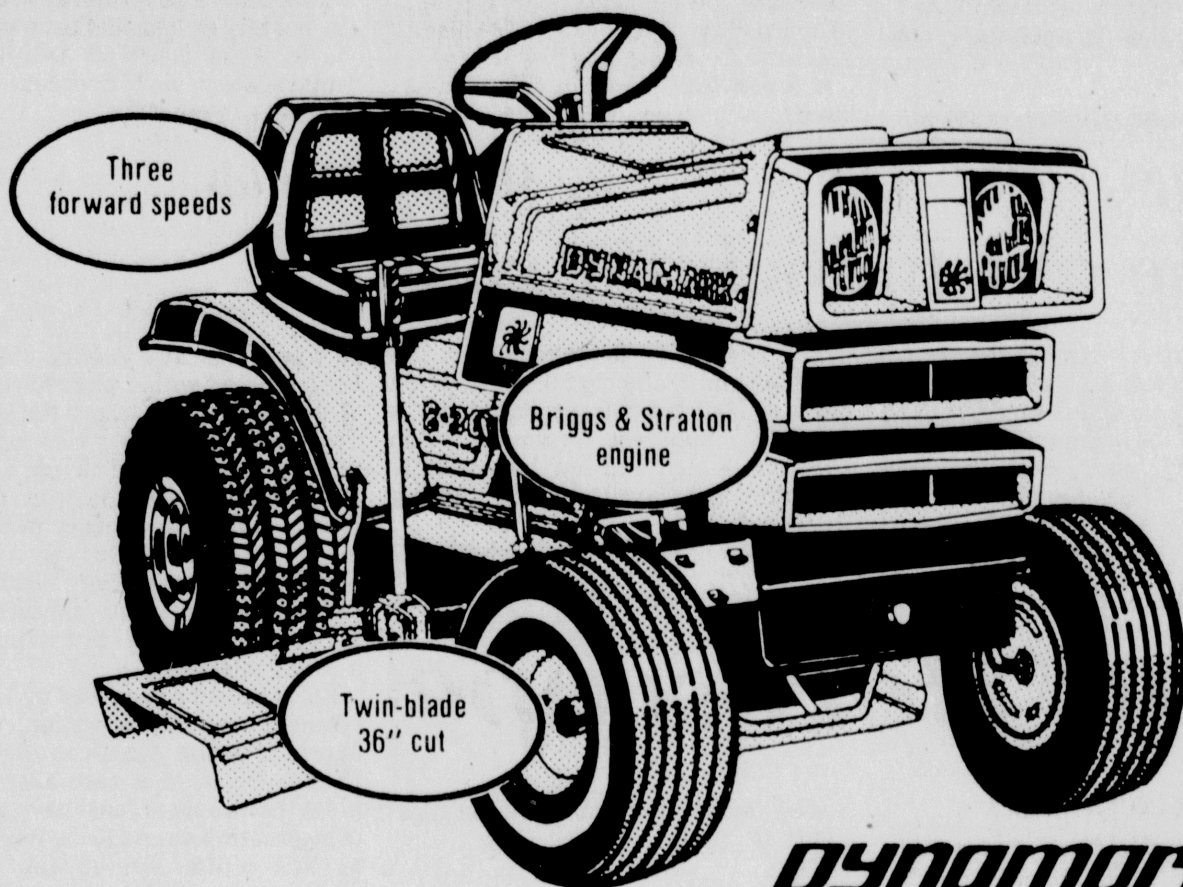

The surplus property was distributed by HEW's Chicago regional office to tax-supported and nonprofit health, education and civil defense organizations under a federal program. Among recipients were the Tiffin

Board of Education, which purchased an old post office building for educational programs, and a Chillicothe retarded children's school, which bought 2 1/4 acres of land formerly used for grain storage.

Training base for guard studied

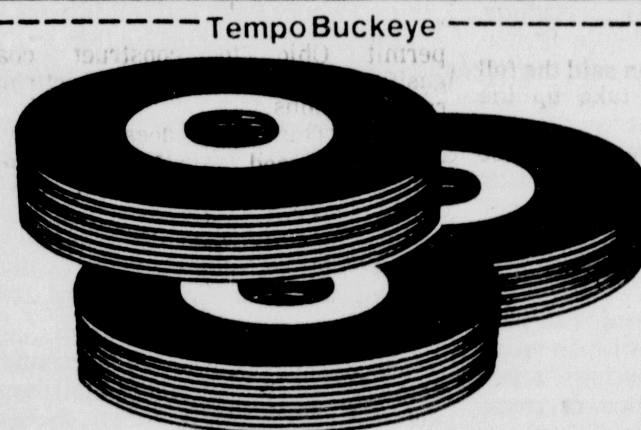

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio National Guard has been directed by Gov. James A. Rhodes to study the possibility of establishing a 25,000-acre training base in Ohio.

Rhodes, in a letter to Adj. Gen. James C. Clem, said Ohio loses millions of dollars in federal and state revenue by sending troops to other states to train.

The governor said weekend and summer training sites in Ohio were totally inadequate for current needs.

Opinion And Comment

Timing of the stimulus

After a period when the administration and Congress were at loggerheads over economic recovery plans, the President has cooled down and Congress has begun to move. With compromise in the wind, the two great concerns are energy proposals and the form a tax cut ought to take.

Whatever measures are finally adopted will no doubt stimulate the economy and make the United States less dependent on foreign oil. It should be noted, however, that during the period of debate and formulation of programs, the economy has not simply marked time.

There is some reason to think we are witnessing a phenomenon observed in connection with previous post-World War II recessions. Again the government is starting to intervene just about when the economy, through internal forces and mechanisms, seems to be slowly righting itself.

Rising unemployment has finally coincided with a lowering of prices. These developments are not the result of government action, which has not yet gone into effect. The rebates on new cars came about because people were not buying. Commodity prices have declined somewhat, suggesting the prospect of lower food prices in the coming year.

Under these circumstances, what effect will the coming tax cut have? At best it will be a short-term stimulus. Some observers feel that the cut, coming when the economy has already begun to pull out of the slide, might even have a negative effect by again fostering inflationary pressures.

All this raises the question of the timing of government action. Also, one must ask whether an economy which requires periodic "stimulative government action" is as healthy as it should be. Perhaps it is to these questions that the administration and Congress should address themselves.

WASHINGTON CALLING By Marquis Childs

Same old Indochina road

WASHINGTON — Of all the might-have-beens troubling the American conscience, Cambodia is surely high on the list. From the beginning of the rape of a country once beautiful and peaceful to the final horrors of a last stand, everyone whether Communist or anti-Communist must share the blame.

The poverty of the attempt by the Ford Administration to follow the same old road, labeled more military aid, is painfully apparent. Administration spokesmen high and low have simply repeated the frayed slogans littering that road.

To a point of absurdity if it were not so tragic, the old domino theory has been revived with a blurred record out of the past meant to put the blame on Congress, beginning "Who lost?"

The administration having wasted so much time already on worn-out shibboleths that can no longer persuade, it may be too late to organize humanitarian relief assistance providing food and medical help. Congress would, I believe, support such a relief mission.

But it must be preceded by Lon Nol's removal and the formation, with the approval of the American embassy in Phnom Penh, of a caretaker government that would at least have a chance of negotiating an end to the war. So long as this pitiful semi-invalid tries to continue the fighting, snatching 15-year-olds off the streets and sending them out to almost certain death, there is no hope.

One compromise the administration came up with was to have Congress authorize a drawdown out of the Pentagon's military aid cupboard of $150 million in military materiel rather than the $75 million presently allowed for Cambodia. Adding another $50 million, this would come close to what the White House wanted in a supplemental appropriation.

In the too little, too late category, this is a futile as the $125 million Congress is fumbling with.

Just ahead is the Easter recess with Congress away for two weeks. In the realistic appraisal of those who see the cables, Phnom Penh will fall if there is no affirmative action before then and it may fall in any event.

Lost sight of in the scuffle over the catch-up appropriation is the $2 billion the administration put into the budget for the next fiscal year for Indochina, chiefly for South Vietnam and Cambodia. The resistance this will meet promises to be even greater than that blocking the $522 million for the two countries.

A studied approach to the continuing demands out of Indochina might have won over even such opponents as Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, chairman of the sub committee on foreign aid. This would have been a candid scheduling of the needs for the coming two or three years with the ultimate phasing out of all help on a fixed date.

Nothing like this was forthcoming. The nearest to it was a remark by President Ford that another five years should see the end of the need for military assistance. That was hardly enough.

Part of the persuasion is that the beginning of the rainy season some time next month will force an end to the fight and make negotiation possible. But as Humphrey remarked, that is a hope held out year after year for at least five years; just another rainy season and the end is in sight.

The agony seen nightly on television is unendurable. Communist forces closing in on Phnom Penh, fire rockets indiscriminately that hit schools and hospitals. By whatever means, perhaps by the use of the United Nations as a mediating agent, it must be somehow stopped.

The major share of the blame for the rape of Cambodia is put on former President Nixon's decision to send in American forces on May 1, 1970, to wipe out the North Vietnamese border sanctuaries. But the communists had put well-trained and equipped cadres into Cambodia proper some time prior to this. They had captured the provincial capital of Shoul where Lon Nol's brother, Lon Nil, was police commissioner. He was dismembered.

The sorriest page in the history of the American imperium, written by Presidents Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon, is Indochina. It is time to write an end to that page.

Maintain a calm attitude in all situations and you can avoid a lot of frustration. Stress tact in all dealings — especially with members of the opposite sex.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

A relatively easy day — once you get the gist of trends and go ahead at a steady tempo. Personal relationships highly favored.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

If it will help to clear up a situation in sensible fashion, don't turn down any feasible suggestion. But discriminate between the astute and the rash.

A good outlook, but reject dubious ideas and suggestions. As with Sagittarius, determine the worth of all propositions before commitment.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Favorable influences. You can now pursue the difficult tasks with as much assurance as the easier ones. Especially favored: written matters, intellectual pursuits.

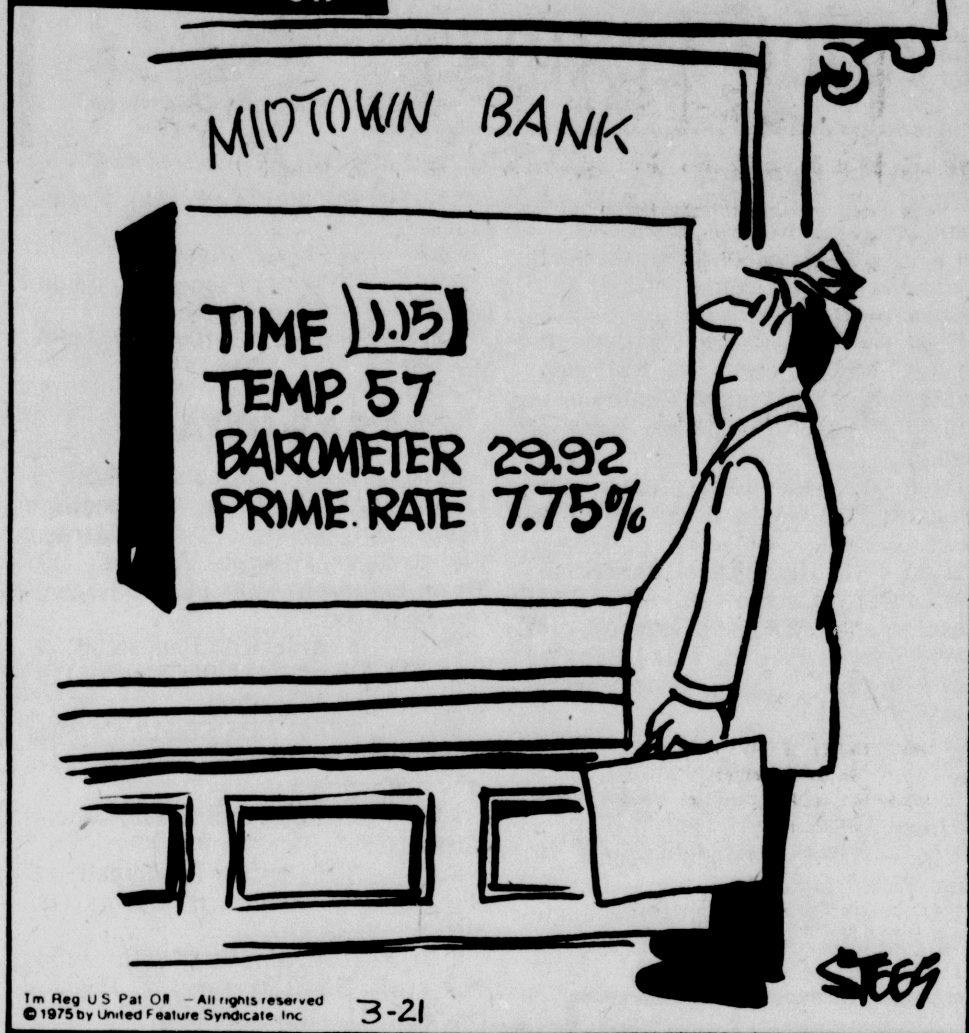

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Stellar aspects now suggest reappraisal of forthcoming undertakings in the light of recent developments. A time for broadening your mental horizons, too.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a dynamic personality, tremendous ambition and an inner drive which propels you toward your goals with the blinding intensity of a comet. Few failures have been born on this date, though some of you may not fully realize your potentials. Reporters embarrass Collier

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Howard L. Collier, director of the Office of Budget and Management and an acknowledged fiscal expert, suffered deep embarrassment when he called in reporters for a briefing on Gov. James Rhodes' new budget bill.

One of Collier's staff members came up with the wrong answer on a huge cardboard chart. The briefing scarcely was under way when a reporter caught the erroneous total.

"I'm really off to a good start," said Collier, blushing.

The amiable Collier, who has been working on state budgets since the early 1960s, called Rhodes' $12.2 billion proposal for the 1975-1977 biennium the toughest he has ever seen.

"We worked on it 58 or 59 days, Saturdays and Sunday inclusive," he said.

Collier thanked newsmen for not hounding him excessively for information while the work was in progress, but he admitted that efforts to keep everything under wraps until the briefing were not entirely successful.

"A reporter called me last night and quoted the exact all-funds total," he lamented.

The Ohio Republican News, official newspaper of the state GOP, came up with only one surprise in its story about the massive capital improvements proposals of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

It figured it wasn't too surprising that the paper approved of the proposals. What was surprising was the headline on Page 2 of the Feb. 28 issue. It referred to Gov. "Rhoads."

The chairman of the House Finance Committee turned down a request by Rhodes administration officials that he introduce the governor's budget.

"They asked me to introduce it and I said 'no,'" said Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville. "I haven't had time to look it over."

The complex, 212-page document was offered Shoemaker a few hours before its scheduled introduction.

Rep. Frederick N. Young, R-38 Dayton, a Republican member of the Finance Committee, did the honors.

Gov. Rhodes, obviously intrigued by industrial development in Puerto Rico, cited the island in proposing a massive tax abatement program for industry.

The governor wants to offer 30-year tax breaks to new manufacturing industries locating in areas of critical need and 12-year moratoriums to companies building anywhere else in Ohio.

In his State of the State message, Rhodes said, "Tax abatement is not a new idea. It was responsible for the entire development of Puerto Rico."

Department from text, he waved a newspaper advertisement trumpeting the benefits to industries moving to Puerto Rico.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"Thanks a lot"
is not enough

DEAR ABBY: I can sympathize with anyone who is taken advantage of by people who don't drive and are always looking for rides. (I call them "schnorrers.")

Abby, I make sure my tank is not in need of filling when I have company with me because I don't want them to think that if I pull into a filling station it is a hint for them to buy some gas.

Wouldn't you think that after years of chauffeuring people around one would give me a small gift, or buy me a lunch? Never! And I never see any of these people unless I am taking them someplace.

I have decided against joining a certain organization because I would be taxi for everyone going my way.

My car is a convenience, but it's also an expense. My husband is the provider. I'm not employed.

Please print this, so people who are always "schnorrin'" rides will realize that some little expression of gratitude besides "thanks a lot" and then slamming the car door would be appreciated.

HAD IT WITH SCHNORRERS

DEAR HAD IT: Here's your letter and I hope it helps. I think you're foolish for denying yourself the pleasure of joining a club for the reason you mentioned. Join, but don't allow yourself to be used.

DEAR ABBY: Is there some way I can break my German shepherds of killing chickens?

They have done it only once but I have heard that once they do it, they will not stop.

Someone, suggested that I tie the dead chickens around the dogs' neck until the chickens rot and it will cure them of killing chickens.

It sounds cruel, and I don't think I'd have the stomach to do it. Can you, or some of your readers, suggest another cure?

DOG LOVER

DEAR DOG LOVER: Because dogs kill only when they are in pairs or packs, let only one dog run at a time. Hanging the dead chicken around the dog's neck won't work as a rule. You could punish the dogs by hitting them a hard whack to let them know they've done wrong, but the best "cure" is to keep the dogs away from chickens. And the chickens away from the dogs.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago, our mother, a widow, then 60, married an attractive 73-year-old man I'll call John. My brother and I (both married) were happy that Mom found someone with whom to share her life. We never cared much for John, but that's another story.

Mom seemed happy. Suddenly, five months ago she died of a heart attack, and John came out smelling like a rose.

We know for a fact that two weeks after Mom's funeral, John started calling up young girls asking for dates. Last weekend, he took a 25-year-old girl to La Costa, where several of our friends saw him. How's that for poor taste?

John was not exactly poor when Mom married him, but now he's rolling in money and making such a fool of himself. You wouldn't believe the talk in this town. I am sure if Mom had known he would carry on in such a scandalous way, she wouldn't have left him anything. He even got the lovely home Mom and Dad built and furnished.

Is there any way my brother and I can get the home? Our lawyer said it belongs to John for as long as he lives, after which my brother and I will share in the ownership.

Please ask your legal consultants if perhaps there is a loophole our lawyer overlooked. Thank you.

J AND D

DEAR J AND S: My legal consultants have advised me against practicing law. And they further suggest that if you lack confidence in your lawyer you should consult another lawyer for his (or her) opinion.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, March 21, the 80th day of 1975. There are 285 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
In 1829, an earthquake in Spain killed some 6,000 persons.

On this date—

In 1685, the composer, Johann Sebastian Bach, was born in Germany.

In 1790, Thomas Jefferson became the first U.S. Secretary of State.

In 1803, the French civil code, the Code Napoleon, was completed.

In 1891, a marriage in Kentucky ended the feud between the Hatfields and McCoys.

In 1918, in World War I, German guns bombarded Paris from 75 miles away.

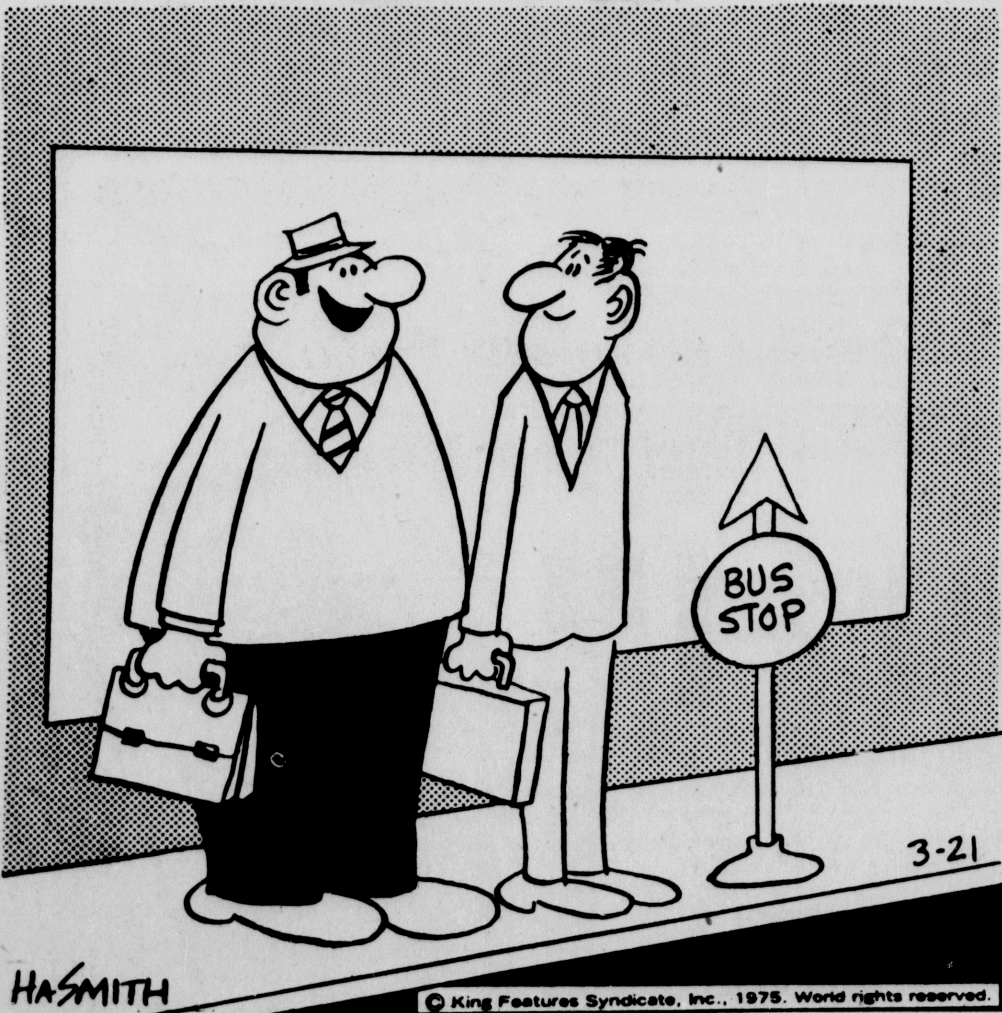

In 1973, the United States vetoed a United Nations Security Council resolution on the American dispute with Panama over the Panama Canal, calling it outside pressure.

Ten years ago: Dr. Martin Luther King led a march of black and white civil rights demonstrators out of Selma, Ala., toward Montgomery.

Five years ago: The ruling Communist party in Czechoslovakia suspended the party membership of the one-time liberal leader, Alexander Dubcek.

Thought for today: Man is born into trouble, as the sparks fly upward — the Bible.

Choir conducts musical drama

Palm Sunday at 7 p.m., the Chancel Choir of Grace United Methodist Church, 301 E. Market St., will present the cantata, "Hail, Glorious King," by John W. Peterson.
Narration will be by the Rev. Allen Puffenberger with solos sung by Mrs. Stanley Skala, John Peterson, Ron Lott, Walter Karnes and Mrs. Harold Soldan. The tenor part of Christ will be sung by the Rev. T. Mark Dove.
History reveals that many works have been composed on events which transpired in the life of Jesus during His last few days upon earth. Now, "Hail, Glorious King," a stirring scriptural cantata, is added to the list.
Beginning with the events in the upper room, it dramatically leads into the trial and the dark agonizing scenes of the cross. But a triumphant note is sounded based on the words of Jesus in John 11:25, "I am the resurrection, and the life."
The Revs. Dove and Puffenberger invite the public to join the church in the observance of Palm Sunday March 23.

PALM SUNDAY — Various churches around the area will be taking part this weekend in the traditional observance of Palm Sunday, the beginning of Holy Week. Although many churches have dropped the actual use of palm leaves in their services, the palms have been known to symbolize the branches villagers "strewn in the way" for Jesus to pass over as he entered Jerusalem, just days before the scribes and chief priests plotted his death.

Local Lutherans plan Holy Week services

RITE OF CONFIRMATION
Holy Week services begin Sunday at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, 1003 N. North St., with the traditional palms being distributed during Palm Sunday service and the Rite of Confirmation at 10:15 a.m. Members of the confirmation class are Deborah Clay, Regina Cotner and Alan Ferguson.

HOLY COMMUNION
Holy Communion service will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday with the sermon, "Preparation for the Garden" by the Rev. Harold Shank. The confirmands will receive their first Holy Communion.

Following the last hymn, preparation for the Good Friday service will begin. Chancel furniture will be stripped bare of paraments, the altar furnishings will be removed and the cross draped in black, followed by the congregation leaving the sanctuary in silence.

TENEBRAE SERVICE
On Good Friday at 7:30 p.m., the Tenebrae service will be held. The literal translation of the Latin Word, "tenebrae" is "shadows." While it is sometimes portrayed as a service of shadows, in more recent years it is being presented as a ceremony progressing from light to darkness.

As the seven candles used in the service are gradually extinguished, they will symbolize the fading loyalties of the disciples and friends of Jesus. It also portrays the fading light of the world as Christ was departing from the earth. Members of the congregation will portray Jesus, his disciples and friends during the service.

EASTER SUNRISE
The climax of Holy Week will be celebrated Easter morning with the Luther League presenting the Sunrise service beginning at 6:15 a.m. Sunday School will be held at 9 a.m. with the chief worship service at 10:15 a.m. A quiet Communion service will be held immediately after the worship service. The public is invited to attend.

Salvation Army strict

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — In most major Christian denominations, it's possible for a member to attend services rarely, give nothing and do little and still retain recognized membership status. But not in the Salvation Army.

"We want total commitment," says the organization's new national commander, Commissioner William E. Chamberlain. "Those who find they can't live up to it leave the ranks."

Installed recently as the spiritually-based Army's top officer in this country, Chamberlain points out that the word, "discipline," stems from the word, "disciple," and he adds:

"You can't be a disciple without discipline. It's the heart and root of the Salvation Army. Discipline is what started the Army, what has kept it going, and is the secret of its usefulness to God."

That quality, however, has become sorely lacking in modern times, says Chamberlain, 65, a broad-shouldered, five-foot-eleven man of erect bearing and decisive manner.

Church adults to present famous Easter cantata

The adult choir of First Christian Church, 232 N. North St., will present "Behold Your King," an Easter cantata by John W. Peterson, at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Soloists will be Mrs. Ray Russell, Robert Maust and Jeff Sheridan, accompanied by Mrs. Wayne Spengler, organist, and Miss Elaine Stookey, pianist.

The cantata begins with the trial of Jesus and ends with the message, "Behold Your King" as the resurrected Savior is proclaimed. A scripture narration, read by Paul Maugher, is woven into the music.

Members of the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Coyt Stookey, are: Mrs. Russell, Maust, Sheridan, Maugher, Mrs. Glen Jette, Mrs. Steven King, Mrs. Bill Halliday, Miss Marsha Rulon, Miss Denise Matthews, Mrs. Margaret Frederick, Mrs. Lavern Morgan, Mrs. Robert Maust, Miss Linda Waterman, Mrs. Paul Maugher, Mrs. Ed Bonner, Mrs. Janice Campbell, Miss Janet Vance, Mrs. Orville Dunlap, Mrs. Tom Parsley, Mrs. Ernest Herman, Brad Maust, Bob Spengler, David Williams, Coyt Stookey and Tom Parsley.

The public is invited to attend.

HONORED AT OPEN HOUSE — Mrs. Clark S. Durlflinger (center), was guest of honor at 'Open House' held in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Albert F. Struve (left), of Greenfield. Also present was Mrs. Russell Minnick, (right) sister-in-law of Mrs. Struve.

'Open house' attracts many honoring Mrs. Durlflinger

Mrs. Albert F. Struve, 448 Jefferson St., Greenfield, held open house at her home Sunday afternoon honoring her mother, Mrs. Clark S. Durlflinger, whose birthday was Mar. 16. Mrs. Struve took her mother and sister-in-law, Mrs. Russell Minnick of Washington C.H., out to dinner, followed by a visit at the Struve home where guests surprised Mrs. Durlflinger by greeting her with "Happy Birthday."

Mrs. Durlflinger, who resides on the Yatesville-Wissler Rd., Bloomingburg, has lived in that neighborhood since 1904. She is presently residing in the family homestead.

In keeping with St. Patrick's Day, arrangements of pale green carnations were placed throughout the rooms. Varicolored spring floral arrangements sent with the best wishes of relatives and friends further enhanced the setting. The guest of honor also received birthday cards and gifts for which she expressed appreciation.

Mrs. Durlflinger had a deep purple orchid corsage and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Minnick, who was in charge of the guest book, had a corsage of pale green carnations.

For the serving of refreshments throughout the afternoon, guests were invited to the dining room. The table was laid with a white linen cloth with appointments in crystal and silver and the birthday motif. The centerpiece was a cake decorated in pink and green, inscribed with "Happy Birthday Mother." The antique pedastal cake stand was handed down from Mrs. Struve's paternal grandparents who received it as a gift on their wedding day. Green candles in matching crystal holders completed the setting.

Mrs. W.B. Kilpatrick presided at the silver coffee service and Mrs. John E. Davis poured the punch. Mrs. Clarence Fox assisted with serving the birthday cake.

The 150 relatives and friends who called to offer congratulations and best wishes to Mrs. Durlflinger on her special day were from Chillicothe, Waverly, Springfield, London, South Charleston, Washington C.H., Sedalia, Madison Mills, Portsmouth, Columbus, Wilmington, Jeffersonville, Bloomingburg and Greenfield.

Delta Kappa Gamma luncheon guests

The 36th anniversary of the founding of Delta Kappa Gamma Society, an honorary society for women educators, was celebrated jointly by the Alpha Delta and Alpha Gamma chapters on Saturday, March 15.

Alpha Gamma, the Ross County chapter, was hostess for a lovely luncheon at the Eastern Star Temple in Chillicothe. The room was decorated with American Indian relics and artifacts including woven mats and baskets, dolls, and pottery. The tables were centered with arrangements of spring flowers.

After lunch, a trio of Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Evans and Mr. David Wedeking, presented a recorded program of Renaissance and twentieth century music. Mr. Wedeking commented that the recorder, a sixteenth century wooden flute, was into a renewed popularity on college campuses today.

The featured speaker, Mrs. Jacob T. Kalfs, a columnist for the Chillicothe Gazette and a historian much interested in the rich folklore of the Scioto Valley, related a colorful biographical sketch of an early nineteenth century "school marm" who was the epitome of early education in Ross County. Miss Mary K. Baskerville's private school, established shortly after 1900 near downtown Chillicothe, was conducted with the staunch dedication and discipline that was the custom in schools 150 years ago, said Mrs. Kalfs.

Camp Fire

The Cherokee Blue Birds made gifts for their parent and ornaments for their homes' trees at Christmas.

The girls made jewelry boxes for their mothers from foam egg cartons by covering the cartons with felt. They lined the inside of the box with felt discs and covered the top with a large felt strip. A branch of holly provided the decoration for the top of the gift boxes.

The ornaments were made with a styrofoam ball as the base. They took pictures from holiday napkins and used decoupage glue to fix the pictures on the styrofoam. The ornaments were then dressed in gold trim for a brilliant effect.

Their trip to the Cincinnati Zoo last spring was rather disastrous, and the girls are hoping for better when they visit Lesourdsville Lake this May. The group left for Cincinnati at 9 a.m. and did not return home until after 5 p.m. However, they spent less than two hours at the zoo. Unfortunately, the bus drivers (who were from Columbus) got lost enroute to the zoo and spent several extra hours on the road.

NEW HOLLAND — The Ke Ko So An Ge Ta Ha Camp Fire Girls of New Holland have activities for every season. Special projects are scheduled for each holiday.

Before Christmas last year the girls went caroling and held a Christmas party. Parties were also held at Halloween and Thanksgiving.

During the summer, the girls worked on honor beads, prepared displays for the Fayette County Fair, cared for the Old Cemetery, and went to camp.

Each spring the group sells Heart Fund balloons, attends the potlatch dinner and prepares for the upcoming fair

Daughters Class meets

The Kings Daughters Class of First Christian Church met in the home of Mrs. Harry Butler with Mrs. Mildred Whittington as assisting hostess for the March business session.

Mrs. Edith Parsley, president, opened the meeting and expressed appreciation to the hostesses for their hospitality.

Devotions were presented by Mrs. Whittington, who used a theme appropriate to the Easter season; she lighted a candle in memory of her father and brother and read their favorite Scripture reference from the Book of Luke, and the poem "Chapel by Side of the Road". Members joined in singing the hymn, "In the Garden" to close the devotional period.

The class study of "Samuel" was presented by Mrs. Helm, class teacher.

Members responded to roll call naming an Old Testament event.

The president stated a letter of appreciation from the Christian Childrens Home at Wooster. The class will join in providing Easter flowers for the altar.

Cheer cards were signed for Mrs. Elizabeth Hall, Mrs. Hazel McNorton and Mrs. Margaret Bloomer.

The president closed the meeting with "Art Thou Lonely" by J. Oxenham. The meeting was adjourned with class benediction.

During the social period, the hostesses served a colorful dessert appropriate to Saint Patrick's Day and the Easter Season.

Films of old homes shown at meet

Old homesteads of Fayette County slides were narrated and shown by Mrs. Richard Rankin at the meeting of Wagner Circle of Grace United Methodist Church this week. She told of the architecture and who built each home, which was very interesting to the group.

Mrs. C. P. Wagner presented an Easter reading, and Miss Helen Slavens read "The Easter Time." Reports were made and the circle will serve the Easter breakfast to the church choir.

The District meeting will be held at the Lancaster campground April 12. Refreshments were served to Mrs. Helen VanZant, Mrs. Jessie Sexton, Mrs. Gladys Stitt, Mrs. Louise Heath and Mrs. N. M. Reiff. A St. Patrick Day theme prevailed.

Five WSHS students eye 'Presidential classroom'

Five Washington Senior High School seniors have been selected to attend a Presidential Classroom for Young Americans in Washington D. C. later this month.

Washington Senior High School Principal Fred A. Jones said Gretchen W. Owen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen, 1272 Dayton Ave.; Donnie Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralston Smith, 441 East St.; Brian Galloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Galloway, 510 Damon Drive; Rory Souther, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Souther, 787 Duke Plaza, and Vicki Lindsay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lindsay, 549 Warren Ave., will be attending the event with other high school students from throughout the nation.

The five WSHS students will be attending the fifth class which is scheduled March 22-29.

Nearly 9,000 juniors and seniors have participated in this unique learning experience since 1968 when Presidential Classroom was chartered as a non-profit, non-partisan educational program. The classroom is designed to promote a greater understanding of the dynamics and structure of the federal government through personal contact with its institutions and leaders. All three branches of the federal government come under study, as well as related areas and issues which directly influence the conduct of its affairs.

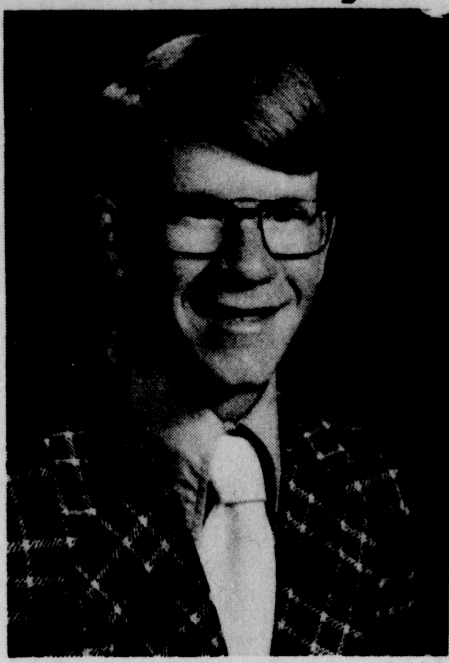

Participants meet with Senators, Congressmen, administration officials, foreign dignitaries and representatives of the military community, the news media and interest groups. The seminar roster for the 1975 program includes such eminent speakers as Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, former Attorney General Richard Kleindienst, Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm, Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, Philippine ambassador Eduardo Z. Romulades, Admiral Owen W. Siler, commandant of U.S. Coast Guard, and syndicated columnist Jack Anderson.

According to Angie Whitaker, executive director, student evaluations reflect two predominant elements —

"on site" learning and interaction among individuals on differing backgrounds — combine to offer the participants an invaluable measure of academic and personal growth. Mrs.

Whitaker also points out that a student's participation often involves the entire community, as well as the school being represented. A significant percentage of students are able to attend through the sponsorship of local organizations.

The cost of each student attending the program is $235 plus transportation.

Lottery sets lucky buck game

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—It might be worth your while to recheck those worn, greasy Ohio lottery tickets of weeks gone by.

There are 59,244 unredeemed tickets worth $1,409,755 out there somewhere, the lottery commission says.

Seven of the tickets are Buckeye 300 winners worth at least $15,000. Those tickets with the winning numbers in green boxes also entitle the holder to a shot at the weekly $300,000 grand prize.

Another 59,054 are $20 winners, but the tickets multiply out to a total worth of $1,181,080, a lottery spokesman said.

Additionally, 46 tickets have winning numbers in blue boxes, making them worth $1,000 each, while 127 tickets sport bluegreen matches worth a total of $63,500, the spokesman said.

One ticket still outstanding would bring its owner $175. It is a winner from the recently ended Gold Rush '75 game, which offered the price of an ounce or pound of gold.

Nine Holiday Bonus tickets from last December will be worth $14,000 if turned in. Four are $1,000 winners and five $2,000 winners, he said.

Meanwhile, lottery officials were making plans for another give-away game to start in May.

The Lucky Buck game was expected to run 10 weeks and to return prizes ranging from $100,000 to $20 each week. "Bonus jackpot" prizes worth $35,000 were to be awarded at the end of the game.

Tickets would cost $1 each and be separate from weekly tickets and prizes, the spokesman said.

Tentative rules for the Lucky Buck contest were filed with state officials last week but could be altered when the commission meets April 14.

As filed, however, they provide that for each one million tickets sold in a given week, there will be single prizes of $100,000, $20,000 and $10,000. Additionally, each million tickets will produce 10 prizes of $5,000 and 10,000 prizes of $20.

The number of jackpot prizes will depend on how many tickets are sold throughout the program at an average of two awards for each one million tickets sold.

Drawings for the Lucky Buck winning numbers will come weekly, and the tickets will be in two sections—for the weekly contests and one to be saved for the jackpot finale.

Public hearing on wildlife set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A public hearing on proposed 1975-76 fish and game regulations will be held April 11 in Columbus, the Natural Resources Department announced.

The Division of Wildlife and the Ohio Wildlife Council will hear testimony from the public and professional wildlife biologists before the proposed regulations are adopted.

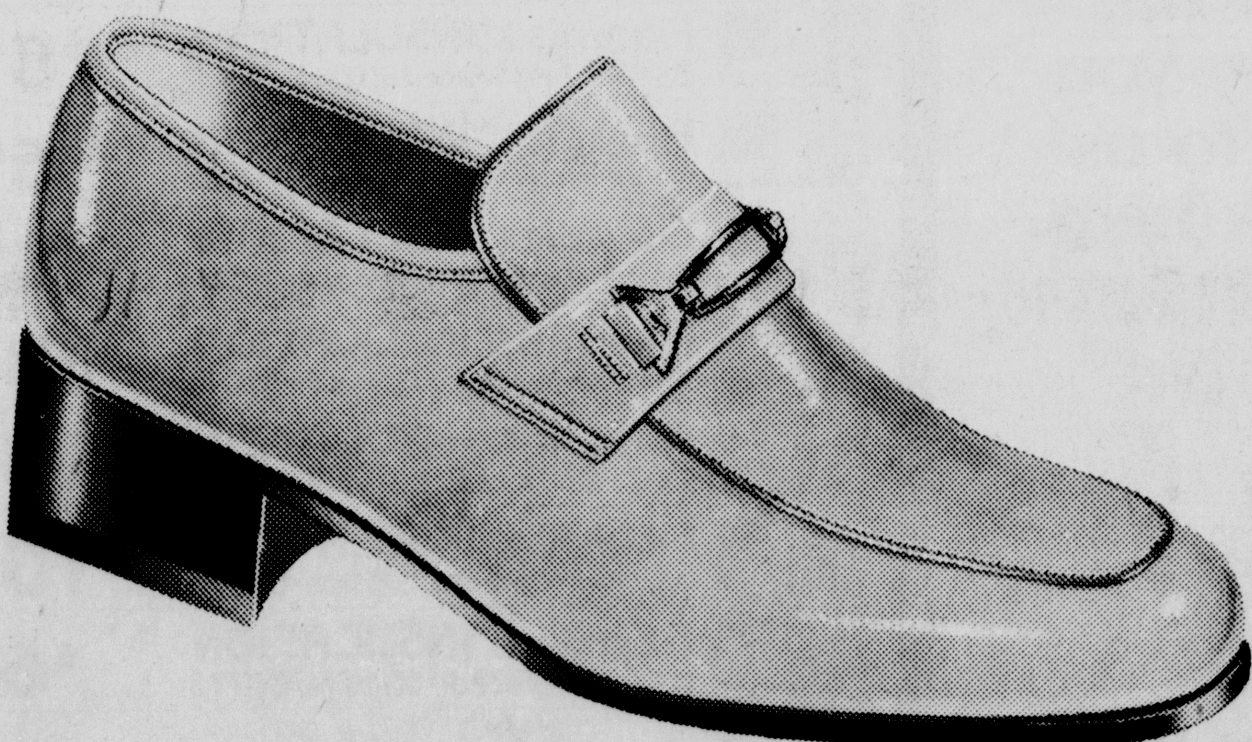

Similar hearings will be held April 6 in each of the state's five wildlife districts.

High quality coal said sufficient

WASHINGTON (AP) — High quality Appalachian coal is plentiful enough that the nation should not have to lower air quality standards or rely on atomic power or Western surface-mined coal, according to the speaker of the West Virginia House of Delegates.

In a paper presented Thursday before the U.S. House Commerce subcommittee on energy and power, Speaker Lewis N. McManus, D-Raleigh, wrote:

"The states of West Virginia, Kentucky and Virginia contain more than enough low sulfur coal to meet the electric utility needs of the area east of the Mississippi River from now through the year 2000, with ease."

McManus did not present the paper himself; it was read on his behalf by legislative staff employee Norman Kilpatrick.

Rail abandonment plan attacked

By WILLIAM KRONHOLM

Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—One of the state's three public utilities commissioners urged the federal government Thursday to reexamine proposals to abandon lesser used rail lines in Ohio.

Commissioner Sally W. Bloomfield, testifying before an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on proposed rail reorganization, said mistakes would have great impact.

"Any misjudgments may result in economic consequences intolerable for this state and its citizens in terms of unemployment, stunted growth and loss of critical energy sources," warned Sally W. Bloomfield.

The proposal being aired is a preliminary system plan of the U.S. Railway Association, a government advisory group to take seven bankrupt railroads and reorganize them into one profit-making quasi-governmental company called the Consolidated Rail Corp. (ConRail).

One of the most controversial part of the plan includes the abandonment of 6,200 miles of lesser-used track in the Midwest and Northeast, including about 900 miles in Ohio, as a way of cutting costs.

Commissioner Bloomfield said USRA should study selective abandonment rather than widespread abandonment.

"The commission suggests that where a line has been found unprofitable by USRA analysts, other steps must be taken.

"First, it must be confirmed that the data used for profitability analysis was accurate. Too often it has not been.

"Second, the line should be reexamined for segments, which, operated alone, might well be profitable.

"Third, the impact of altered operating patterns on the line's profitability should be weighed.

"And fourth, one must ask whether a line might not be profitably operated by one of Ohio's solvent railroads," she said.

The commissioner also urged that unprofitable lines be "rail banked," or held available for later use, rather than being abandoned.

Hospital walkout ended

NEW YORK (AP) — Physicians who struck 22 private and city-operated hospitals here returned to work today, ending the first strike by doctors in the nation's history.

A contract offer by the League of Voluntary Hospitals that had been rejected by representatives of the 3,000-member Committee of Interns and Residents (CIR) was resurrected late Thursday afternoon, and shortly after 6 p.m. the settlement was announced jointly by the league and the CIR.

"We have a contract," a CIR spokesman said. He said ratification of the agreement by the CIR rank and file was not needed.

Dorset show, sale opens

A lamb smorgasbord at 7 p.m. tonight in the Mahan Building will close activities on the first day of the Ohio Dorset Breeders show and sale. The showing of Horned and Polled Dorsets began after lunch Friday, and the sale of animals will take place at the Fayette County Fairgrounds Saturday.

Trophies were awarded in 10 classes at the show which was judged by David Ames, of Kansas State University. More than 50 Dorset breeders from all over the United States attended the show and will remain here for tomorrow's sale. Thirteen different states were represented for what is destined to be the largest sale in the association's 15-year history.

Saturday's activity will get underway at 9 a.m. when Lowell Douce will direct a 4-H and FFA judging contest. A trophy will be awarded to the first place individual and the top ten finishers will receive ribbons. Each member of the first place team will receive a trophy while each member of the top five teams will receive ribbons.

Hobart Farthing will be the auctioneer for the sale which will begin promptly at 11 a.m. Local officers of the Ohio Dorset Breeders Association are Douce, who is a member of the executive board, and Phil Grover, president.

MAN OF THE YEAR — Fred Domenico, right, 137 River Road, is pictured accepting a "Man of the Year" plaque from Thomas A. Hahnenberg, general manager of the New York Life Insurance Co. office, Columbus. In order to become "Man of the Year," an agent has to be the outstanding salesman out of a number of agents. He also should contribute to the overall morale and upgrading of the general office.

DP&L to seek street light hikes

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Dayton Power & Light Co. said it will request a 33 per cent increase in electric rates for street lights in all renewal contracts.

The company said rising coal costs, from $8 to $28 a ton, make the hike necessary.

The hike will be imposed as contracts come up for renewal during the next three years.

Communities immediately affected include Xenia, Troy, Miamisburg, Sidney and parts of Wayne, Harrison and Mad River townships.

Cookies approved by FDA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration says that aside from one isolated case, it has found no further defects in the thin mint cookies distributed by Girl Scout councils.

The FDA said Thursday it had reached that conclusion after completing its evaluation of the cookies manufactured by the Burry Division of Quaker Oats.

Girl Scout councils in eight states were warned Tuesday not to sell the cookies after two slivers of glass were discovered in separate cookies in one box bearing the code number 5034.

The FDA said this was the only contamination found and that on the basis of its own analysis and information provided by Ohio authorities, it planned no further action.

The Ohio Agriculture Department said its tests also had shown that the glass slivers in the one box was an isolated incident.

According to the FDA, 5,527 cases of code 5034 cookies were manufactured in January and most of them were believed to have been distributed.

The FDA said the following 11 Girl Scout councils had received code 5034 cookies: combined council for South Bend, Ind., and Benton Harbor, Mich.; Falmouth and Sanford, Maine; Elyria and Sandusky, Ohio; Hannibal, Mo.; El Paso, Tex.; York, Pa.; Canton, Ohio; Kittanning and Butler, Pa.; Logansport, Ind.; Columbus, Ohio; and Milwaukee, Wis.

Spring's arrival brought mostly clear skies to Ohio and some sunshine was expected in the state today.

Temperatures were to range from around 50 degrees near Lake Erie to 60 degrees along the Ohio River.

There was a sprawling complex low pressure system in the Great Plains and another in the Canadian maritime provinces.

In between was Ohio, with a high pressure ridge bringing sunny skies.

Early morning temperatures were generally in the 30s in the north and in the low 40s in the southern areas of the state.

Youngstown was an exception, with temperatures in the upper 20s, but usually chilly Toledo was spared from freezing temperatures by some patchy cloudiness.

Mild temperatures were expected to continue during the weekend, but there was a chance of rain on both Saturday and Sunday.

A chance of showers Sunday and Monday, partly cloudy and cooler Tuesday. Highs in the mid and upper 50s Sunday and in the upper 40s and low 50s Tuesday. Lows 40 to 45 Sunday and in the mid 30s Tuesday.

'Daffodil Days' open here

Everything will be coming up daffodils today and Saturday. After a long winter of snow and cold winds, the daffodil, one of the brightest flowers of spring, will bloom in Fayette County.

Today and Saturday, the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society, in cooperation with the Beta Omega chapter of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority in Washington C. H., will be holding the second annual "Daffodil Days" project to raise funds for cancer research.

Mrs. Harry Haines, philanthropic chairman of the sorority who innovated the special event a year ago, will again lead the volunteers in the fund-raising project this weekend.

Last year, 25 units participated in the special event and $15,858.22 was obtained for 101,760 daffodils.

The special event was the top fund-raising project for the county cancer unit last year.

The sorority will be assisted by Camp Fire Girl troops this year. The locations are Krogers, G. C. Murphy's, Food World, K-mart and Buckeye Mart.

Assisting the sorority members are Janet Simpson, Janice Boswell, Marty Burr, Jeannie Immell, Julia Shepler, Sherry Exline, Bonnie Blue, Thelma Barnett, Shirley Harris, Sharon Chrisman, Norma Satchell and Sue Stoker, Blue Bird leaders; Mary Ann Eggington, Helen Root, Carrie Ferguson, Noreen Ford, Teresa Tate, Patty Zinn, Linda Satterfield, Jean Yarger and Joy Valentine, Camp Fire Adventure leaders; Aileen Wilson and

Sinai agreement close at hand

JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger returned from Egypt today with four major elements of a Sinai agreement close to being settled, U.S. officials said.

Still unresolved, however, was the principal issue of how far Israel will pull back and whether it will give up the Mitla and Gidi passes and the Abu Rudeis oil field, newsmen were told.

"We are not at the brink of an agreement," one official said as Kissinger flew in from Aswan for a meeting here with the Israeli negotiating team.

The key items nearing completion are:

—Both sides would give "certain assurances" only to the United States while others would be made public.

—A mutual obligation by Israel and Egypt that they would not resort to force. That is a modification of the nonbelligerency pledge sought by Israel but turned down by President Anwar Sadat.

—The Israeli withdrawal — however deep it is — would be carried out in a number of steps.

—United Nations forces would take over most — but not all — of the territory given up by Israel.

American officials aboard Kissinger's U.S. Air Force jet cautioned that the negotiations could still deadlock, particularly over the withdrawal line.

However, both Israel and Egypt were said to be "easing" their over-all negotiating positions, and Kissinger is now reported close to a "framework" for an agreement.

Kissinger met with Sadat for 2½ hours at his Upper Nile villa Thursday night. Newsmen were told Egypt had made some "modifications," but these were not divulged.

An Egyptian spokesman said Kissinger would return to Aswan either Saturday or Sunday.

Cairo's semiofficial newspapers quoted official Egyptian sources as saying the talks had reached a decisive point with the only possible way out being Israel's giving up a demand to end the state of war between the two nations.

The sources added they believed Israel's insistence on some form of nonbelligerency was a "tactical maneuver or political decision" based on new calculations by the Israeli government.

Personal property tax relief granted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio House has voted to grant tax relief on personal property in a far-reaching move to aid business, but lawmakers rejected a bill to suspend the state tax on new automobile sales.

The property tax bill, lowering rates on inventories and equipment, was approved 65-24 and sent to the Senate after lengthy debate over its effect on local tax bases.

The bill would lower assessment rates on personal property gradually over the next eight years from present 45 and 50 per cent levels to 35 per cent of true value—the same rate being used in appraising real estate.

Opponents, like Rep. Joseph P. Tulley, R-59 Willoughby, argued that the reduced rates could not be offered without "somebody paying the tab."

"We can be big shots down here and go before the business community and say we did away with an unfair tax, but its the people back home—the school districts and local government—that have to pay for the loss of income," he said.

Rep. William E. Hinig, D-96 New Philadelphia, said the reduction would stimulate industrial growth to offset the loss of tax money.

Warning that Ohio could lose industry to states offering a more favorable business climate, Rep. George Tablack, D-52 Campbell, asked:

"Are we going to kill the goose that laid the golden egg?"

If the Senate and Rhodes concur with the House action, personal property tax assessments on inventories will drop to 43 per cent of real value next year and continue to decline until 1983, when all tangible taxes would be assessed at 35 per cent of real value.

Super-loud rock music said hazardous, illegal

CALIFORNIA, Pa. (AP) — Super-loud rock music is a health hazard and may be illegal under certain conditions, according to a safety consultant.

Randall Davidson, who heads a private firm here called the International Safety Institute, says he has measured the sound levels at hundreds of nightclubs and discotheques across the country.

He says bands often play at a decibel level between the rumble of a subway train and the roar of a jet plane at takeoff.

In numbers, that comes out above the allowable limit of 115 decibels for 15 minutes specified under the federal Occupational Safety and Health Standards Act of 1970, he says.

Discotheque patrons are not covered by the law, but club employees are.

"I've seen kids who would come out of those places and not be able to hear for two or three days," said Davidson.

"It causes high blood pressure, migraine headaches and all the stomach problems that go along with being upset."

Dr. F. A. Van Atta, senior scientist of the Labor Department division charged with enforcing the act, said strict enforcement of noise standards in discotheques isn't likely, however. Nationwide, there are 800 inspectors to investigate an estimated 2.4 million places of business for all types of safety hazards, and loud music in nightclubs isn't a high priority, he said.

Scientists have said for some time that noise levels attained by loud rock bands may cause hearing loss. Dr. David Lipscomb, director of the noise research laboratory at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville, says a significant number of people with measurable hearing loss were found in testing more than 7,000 young people since 1967.

"They have the hearing of a 40-year-old person," he said.

Maria Stein joins A powers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It was supposed to be Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South vs. Mansfield St. Peter's for the Ohio Class A high school basketball tournament Saturday.

Scratch the top-ranked Mansfield power. Write in unheralded Maria Stein Marion, making its maiden state tournament trip.

"They were reading their own press clippings," said Marion Coach Irv Besecker after the Flyers scuttled St. Peter's 67-42 in the semifinals Thursday night.

That gave Marion a 24-1 record to throw at another former state champion, 20-5 Indian Valley South, in the championship game at 11:30 a.m. Saturday in St. John Arena.

Ironically, Besecker thought St. Peter's rugged schedule, laced with Class AAA and Class AA opponents, was a liability against his Mercer County team.

"They (St. Peter's) are used to playing overly aggressive against the bigger schools," said Besecker. "You can't play that way against Class A teams."

St. Peter's (24-3) lost its big guns, Player of the Year Steve Lemming and Greg Givens, on five personal fouls midway through the fourth quarter. Givens scored but 10 points. Lemming had eight.

"What can you say?" a chagrined St. Peter's Coach Ron Barbo asked newsmen.

"We got into foul trouble," he answered his own question, "took shots we normally wouldn't. We couldn't shake loose any kind of offense."

"The inside game of Marion was much better than we thought," said Barbo, an assistant coach on St. Peter's 1968 state championship squad.

Steve Hartings, a nimble 6-foot-6 junior, was the heart of the Flyers' inside power. He roamed near the basket for 24 points and 22 rebounds. With Givens and Lemming saddled with foul woes, no Spartan could handle him.

Charlie Huggins, Indian Valley South's coaching wizard, marveled over the Flyers' inside game.

"We're just not growing our kids tall enough back home," wise cracked Huggins, whose teams are in the finals for the third time in four seasons. They won the 1972 title.

Marion has four regulars ranging from 6-2 Rick Brunswick to Hartings. Indian Valley South's tallest starter is the coach's son, 6-2 junior Harry Huggins, who damaged Mississinawa Valley with 24 points.

Lack of patience sent Mississinawa Valley to the sidelines with a 20-6 record, said its coach, Steve Brewer.

"We had a three-point lead with a little over two minutes to play. We took an unnecessary shot and they scored twice to put it away," Brewer said.

Bryan Lentz, like Huggins a regular on Indian Valley South's 1974 semifinalists, ruined the Blackhawks at both ends of the court in the last minute.

Lentz, who had 23 points, stole the ball with the Rebels on top 57-56. He also hit three fouls in the last 33 seconds to wrap up the victory.

Indian Valley South won at the foul line. Both teams had 23 baskets, but the Rebels were 14 of 19 on their free throws to 10 of 22 for the Blackhawks.

The Class AAA and Class AA semifinals took over the spotlight today.

In today's Class AA play, Warsaw River View (23-1) battled Rossford (23-1) and Louisville Aquinas (16-8) tangled with Dayton Stivers (15-8).

In tonight's Class AAA semifinals, Columbus LindenMcKinley (16-8) takes on Kettering Alter (24-0) at 6 and Canton McKinley (23-1) plays Cleveland Heights (23-1) at 9:30.

Weather makes opener doubtful

Coach Roger Mickle and the Washington Senior High School Blue Lion baseball team are scheduled to start play at home Saturday afternoon against Lexington, but the weather hasn't cooperated with Coach Mickle's plans.

"If the sun doesn't dry out the field by Saturday, the Lexington game will be postponed," Mickle said, "And Monday's game may have to be moved to Logan Elm if the field doesn't get any better."

The wet field posed a more serious problem than postponements of season openers. The weather has been keeping the Blue Lions inside the Washington gym for some pitch-and-catch games and hitting practice in the batting cage.

Yesterday was one of the few times the team has been able to practice outside and even then the baseballers had to workout on the outfield grass, because of the poor condition of the infield and practice games have been almost impossible to schedule.

THE BLUE LIONS finished 5-13 last year and Coach Mickle has a lot of young, unproven players moving into starting position. But, Mickle said the team should win some ballgames if they can eliminate the mental errors.

Mickle will have one of his top pitchers back from last year in Larry Dumford and three others who saw considerable action last season. They are infielders Randy Sparkman and Mark Fisher along with catcher Randy Gardner, but gone are all-league choices Alan Coppock and pitcher Mark Johnson.

Mickle says with one experienced pitcher back and some young hitters, who look good in the batting cage, but he is not sure how they will hit in varsity games, the season is unpredictable.

Jaycee Cage tourney draws 14-team field

A field of 14 teams have entered the annual Washington C.H. Jaycee Convention Club's Independent basketball tournament.

The tournament, noted for drawing the areas better teams, will be a double-elimination tourney with play to open Saturday afternoon at the Washington Middle School gymnasium.

Two of the 14 teams will draw first round byes and Jaycee Tournament Spokesman Rob Munn said the tourney wanted 16 teams, but two prospective clubs got their entry fee in too late.

Reds stop Houston, 7-2

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Clay "The Hawk" Carroll, who normally swoops in for late-inning relief pickings is getting a taste of the main course this spring.

The elder statesman of the Cincinnati Reds pitching staff, one of baseball's most durable relievers, made his second straight start Thursday and turned in another impressive outing.

It's part of Manager Sparky Anderson's all-out preparation to have the Reds primed for the opening 10 days of the season when they face the Los Angeles Dodgers seven times.

"We'll be ready like we were never ready before," said Anderson. "We want to close the door to any leaks."

Carroll, who started only three games last year, went five innings in Thursday's 7-2 victory over the Houston Astros.

Anderson's tough-minded approach is apparently paying off. The Reds have won seven of their last eight games, upping their record to 8-5.

Carroll yielded one run and five hits in notching the victory. Tom Hall followed with three scoreless innings before Tom McEnaney finished up, allowing a solo homer to Bob Watson.

The Reds scored a trio of runs in the fourth and eighth innings, teeing off on starter Dave Roberts and reliever Ken Forsch.

Tony Perez drove in two runs on a single and a sacrifice fly.

Four teams remain in Lion tourney

The Sabina Lions Club basketball tournament thinned down to four teams fighting for the championship after last night's action.

Porter Hybrids got 26 points from Bill Bickerstaff to edge Snow Motor Sales, 70-67. Porter Hybrids will meet Tailorsville, a 81-75 winner over Mt. Orab last night on Dave Neal's 30-point performance, at 7 o'clock tonight with the winner meeting Harris Auction in an 8:30 contest.

Harris Auction lost a heartbreaking 103-98 double-overtime contest to powerful Superior Carpet last night. The win made Superior Carpet the only team left in the winners bracket. Ron Groves led Superior with 29 points and Fletcher Yates hit 29 for the losers.

Superior Carpet will meet the winner of tonight's final contest Saturday night for the tourney championship.

Princeton bombs S.C.

NEW YORK (AP) — Pay attention, please, the Princeton Tigers are giving a basketball clinic.

Notice how they move the ball. See them hit the open man. Watch the ball go in the basket.

"We played as well as we can," said Princeton Coach Pete Carril after his Tigers put on a near-perfect performance in beating South Carolina 86-67 Thursday night in the quarterfinals of the 38th National Invitation Tournament.

The impressive victory advanced the Ivy Leaguers into Saturday's semifinals against Oregon, which beat Oral Roberts 68-59 in Thursday night's first game at Madison Square Garden. St. John's and Providence, victors in earlier quarter-final games will meet in Saturday's other semifinal game.

Princeton dispatched South Carolina with clinical ease, astonishing even Carril.

"I couldn't believe some of the things I saw out there, we were so perfect," said Carril, whose team simply blew by the Gamecocks and scored at least a dozen baskets on easy layups.

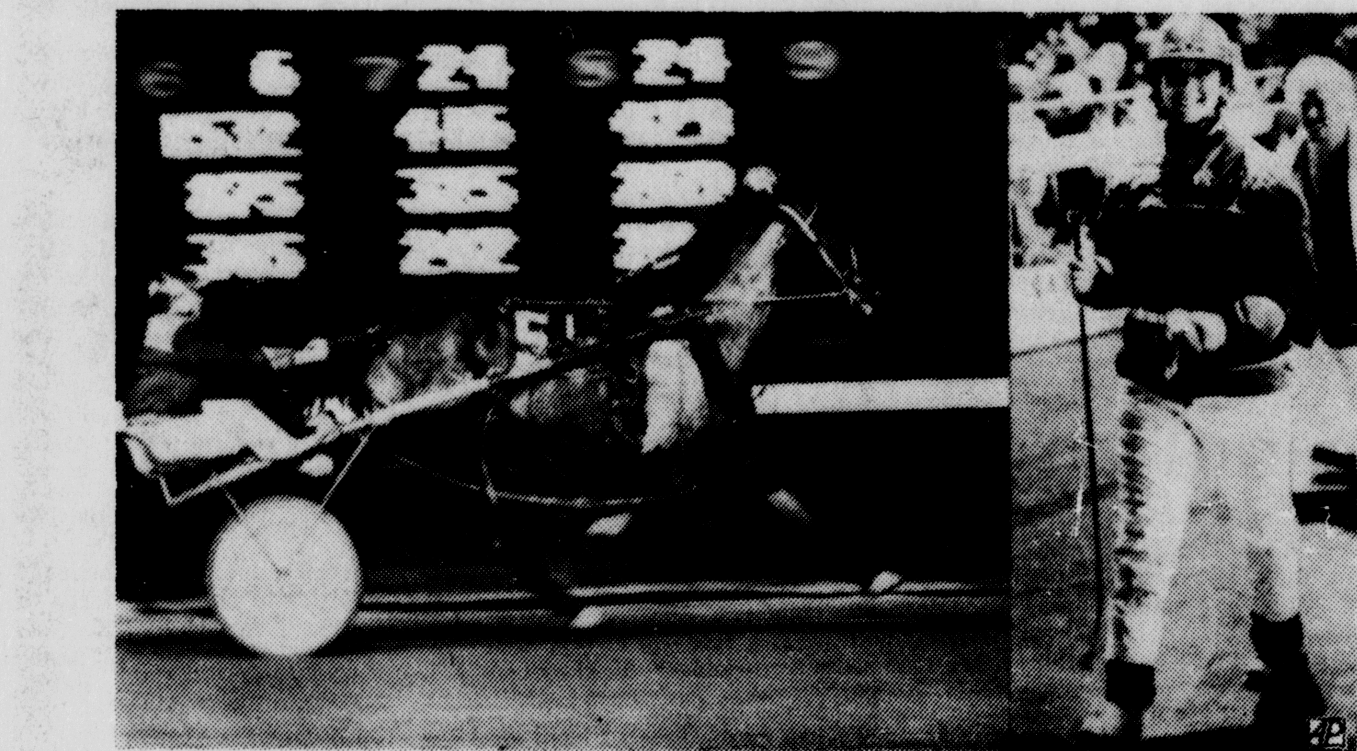

The Tigers, perhaps the best drilled of the 16 teams in this post-season tourney, executed with precision behind Tim Van Blommestein and Armond Hill and held a stunning 42-24 lead at the half. Van Blommestein and Hill got free for 24 and 22 points, respectively, to lead all scorers as the Tigers won their 11th straight game.

Columbus to host Mr. Ohio contest

The American Amateur Bodybuilding Association will hold a national contest in Columbus' Veterans Memorial Auditorium at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Bodybuilders will compete for the title of Mr. Ohio with trophies valued at $6,000 given to winners in the different weight classes.

Five time Mr. Universe winner, Arnold Schwarzenegger; Franco Columbu, Mr. Universe and Mr. World winner; and Louie Ferrigno, Mr. America and twice Mr. Universe winner will be on hand to give a guest posing exhibition.

WOMAN COMPETES WITH MEN RACE DRIVERS — Beate Ferber, 34, rated one of the top drivers at Los Alamitos, Calif., track during the current harness season says, "I prefer to drive against men. It's easier to figure out what a man driver will do — with women you just don't know." Mrs. Ferber of Brighton, Mich., left her job as a legal secretary to go into racing with her husband.

Louisville drops C.U.

Kentucky, Indiana to collide

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer

Fifth-ranked Kentucky has been pointing for a rematch against unbeaten No. 1 Indiana ever since the Hoosiers gunned down the Wildcats 98-74 earlier this season.

The time for the shootout virtually is at hand — Saturday at Dayton, Ohio.

Both teams reached the final of the NCAA Midwest Regional basketball tournament with victories at Dayton Thursday night, Kentucky trouncing unranked Central Michigan 90-73 and Indiana beating 13th-ranked Oregon State 81-71.

Meanwhile, in the East Regional at Providence, R.I., No. 20 Syracuse upset sixth-ranked North Carolina 78-76, and 17th-ranked Kansas State downed unranked Boston College 74-65.

At Las Cruces, N.M., in the Midwest Regional, No. 3 Louisville stopped 12th-ranked Cincinnati 78-63 and fourth-ranked Maryland trimmed No. 9 Notre Dame 83-71.

And in the West Regional at Portland, Ore., second-ranked UCLA squeaked past unheralded Montana 67-64 and No. 7 Arizona State topped 16th-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas 87-84.

All the winners will meet Saturday for the regional titles, then the winners will advance to the national semifinals at San Diego March 29. The championship will be at San Diego March 31.

Indiana's victory over Oregon State was its 34th in a row over two years and 31st this season. The Big Ten Conference champions got 34 points from Steve Green, who connected on 14 of 19 field goal attempts, and 23 points from Kent Benson.

Kentucky, 24-4, led upstart Central Michigan by only two points with eight minutes left, before pulling away with three straight baskets. Kevin Grevey paced Kentucky with 17 points.

Syracuse's victory over North Carolina was the biggest upset so far in the far-ranging NCAA tourney. The Orangemen, 22-7, won it on Jim Lee's field goal with three seconds remaining. Lee finished with 24 points.

Chuck Williams' 32 points, 24 in the second half, led Kansas State, 20-8, past Boston College. The Eagles rallied to within 65-63, but couldn't overcome the Wildcats, who shot a sparkling 63 per cent from the field, hitting 34 of 54 attempts.

Louisville, 26-2, used first-half streaks of 15-0 and 10-0 in building a 42-25 lead and beating Cincinnati, ending the Bearcats' 16-game winning streak.

Maryland, 24-4, rallied from a 15-5 deficit against Notre Dame and finally forged ahead to stay 50-48 early in the second half on a field goal by John Lucas, its high scorer with 24 points.

UCLA, 25-3, had to scramble all the Sino-American track meet set

NEW YORK (AP) — Don't look for team winners and losers when the United States track and field squad makes an unprecedented trip to China for three meets between May 15-30.

"No team scores will be kept," explained Ollan C. Cassell, executive director of the Amateur Athletic Union, which is co-sponsoring the tour along with the National Committee on U.S.-China Relations.

"Individual records will be kept, but this is not an official team event as far as scoring," said Cassell. "If records are set, they will be submitted for certification to the proper people as they ordinarily would be."

Letters from readers of Record-Herald

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

Your editorial "Hoover's dirt files" of March 7, 1975, indicates that you, along with so many other newspaper editors and other communication media, have been "taken in" by the new attorney general.

You state "Hoover's secret files we are now told included folders on a variety public figures or prominent persons including presidents, executive branch employees and 17 individuals who were members of Congress. This is evidence that the man for decades nurtured his reputation as a paragon of sectitude not only collected such material but from time to time made intimidating use of it."

I certainly hope he did and am also thankful that he did for had he not, he would have been neglecting his duty. Now, let's take a closer look at his telling us that he disapproves of these actions — the present attorney general, Edward H. Levi.

Did you know that he is the first attorney general in modern history who had never met the president who appointed him? It is well-known in political circles in our capital that Levi was the choice of Vice President Nelson Rockefeller.

Levi apparently hasn't voted in a primary election in 30 years and really cares so little about the American political system that he can't recall if he is a Republican or Democrat.

Levi readily admits he was an active member of the National Lawyers Guild which has been officially cited as "the foremost legal bulwark of the Communist party" its front organizations and controlled unions which since its inception has never failed to rally to the legal defense of the Communist party and individual members thereof, including known espionage agents.

On Nov. 24, 1952, he had involved himself by writing a personal letter to President Harry S. Truman urging clemency on behalf of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, the convicted atom spies. He also gave speeches on behalf of the Rosenbergs and the University of Chicago.

He believes in "bugging" juries deliberating court cases.

He disapproves of the death penalty saying, "The function of the death penalty at the present time is largely to increase the dramatic element. It hovers over the entire criminal system as a symbol of harshness unacceptable in the modern world, inappropriate in a society which must diminish violence." As "Human Events" has commented: "That statement in the view of many is well worth pondering. Is Levi really so sheltered that he believes the modern world — the world of Stalin, Hitler and Mao — finds the death penalty unacceptable? Or does he mean it is unacceptable in the United States, even though Lou Harris finds that the American people support the death penalty 59 per cent to 31 per cent? And if he feels the death penalty for murderers is too harsh, how does he feel about other punishment for lesser criminals?"

He not only recommended him for the job, but also worked with Norman Buosler, University of Chicago law librarian, on the jury bugging investigations. And who was Buosler? It was well-known that he had been identified as a Communist and Soviet agent. Edward Levi knew it. Yet he admitted in testimony that as dean of the University of Chicago law school he maneuvered to employ him in a key post. That admission alone should disqualify Edward H. Levi from being attorney general of the United States.

Frank A. Capell, writing in the Feb. 26, 1975 issue of "Review of the News" concludes: "This action is a further indication that the exposure of the Nixon administration has been used to bring in a new gang of operators beholden to Nelson Rockefeller and committed to the destruction of U.S. security. Americans would do well to watch him very closely."

So the next time you read anything coming from the attorney general's office consider these facts and start reading between the lines.

As for me, I consider our county extremely fortunate to have had J. Edgar Hoover as our top FBI man for as long as we did. As long as we have scores of thousands of men like him all over our country, I'll worry less about losing our freedoms to the enemy.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

The public or not so public criticism of your Record-Herald, recently by lawyer politicians seems to be without merit. Why not a little praise from a layman's point of view.

During 1972, 73, 74 the Record-Herald gave the most comprehensive news, pertaining to the Watergate coverup procedures. Almost anyone that read and studied those news items, could almost form an opinion as to whom the convicted criminals and the unheard of, pretrial pardoned, big wig would be. Only an American attribute, to prejudice, with "the cards laid face up on the table."

Later in 1974 the Record-Herald and, the newspaper guild, did all in their power, to protect a staff member being persecuted, or prosecuted by a court. A trial was held, the victim was exonerated, and a decision was handed down, which will be referred to from now on in cases dealing with the suppression of the press and news media, by public officials.

Later in 1975 the Record-Herald carried an article constructed by our Sheriff, on his criticism of municipal court, in its erratic procedures, in its lack of good judgement, in its handling of cases, in the handing out of penalties or no penalties without any regard to the efforts of trying law enforcement officials. Speak out Sheriff.

Certainly partisan politics can't be blamed on the Record-Herald, for exposing the three above mentioned areas. The Record-Herald certainly helped the citizen, sort the rotten from the good eggs. It seems beyond the spectator of the human minds to sort rotten apples out of the barrel without the aid of the news media.

We can be thankful, to be blessed, with having the Record-Herald in our midst.

Taking the three networks off the air soon as quoted, would mean during our bicentennial celebration, of the Declaration of Independence, would certainly question, how far have we come in 200 years? Please don't let that threat interfere in your celebration plans, it was conceived by an unworthy elected politician.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

A so called "energy crisis" is currently raging around the world. And it has become obvious the crisis is purely propaganda being broadcast by the government, the oil companies and the Atomic Energy Commission. Whether or not the United States government is operating in cahoots with the oil producing nations or is in complete control remains to be seen. Henry Kissinger certainly has more up his sleeve than keeping battlegrounds quiet.

The oil companies are ripping us off, stealing us blind and we're letting them. Sitting back, typically, yawning the evening hours away watching T.V. while somewhere somebody is really getting rich quick and destroying the planet even faster!

The AEC has built more than 50 nuclear power plants since 1957. The United States has spent more than 40 billion dollars during this time to keep the nuclear program expanding. Out of the oil and general "energy crisis" the AEC hopes to sell, and I emphasize sell, the people nuclear energy as the energy of the future. Nuclear energy will be the death of everything on earth if it is allowed to proliferate. Two substances used in producing the energy are uranium and plutonium. Both are radio-active, plutonium is the most powerful poison known. A scant ten pounds of plutonium is capable of killing every living being on earth. Consider that.

The energy crisis just simply does not mean an energy shortage. Rather we are faced with large corporations stealing from us to gain political and monetary power. There are people in this community involved in the rip-off some of whom are perfectly aware of their actions and others more naive. It would look pretty strange here on earth to any survivors of a rain of atomic fall-out. I won't proceed to describe the terrifying vision of earth devastated by power hungry mankind. Really, I'm not trying to be radical or eccentric or crazy, I'm talking plain truth and the reason I'm bestowing a feeling of urgency to this letter is because I know we have time to change this crisis into a good plan. We should be expanding our knowledge of solar and geo-thermal energy and we should be ready to utilize these sources by the 1980's which mean we'd all better start voting or speaking out or demonstrating; doing something to make the world a better place.

If we don't bring the power back to the people I think we're going to see in America a state of totalitarianism run by big business with money becoming an even greater God than it already is and then quite possibly a serious natural or man induced catastrophe to permanently alter the lives of everyone on this planet.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

On Feb. 20, I moved from my home, three miles southwest of Washington C.H. (Rt. 2) to a house seven miles from Washington C.H. which is on Rt. 1.

On Monday prior to moving, I went to the Post Office and filled out an address change card. I also placed a note in the Rt. 2 box stating that I had moved to Rt. 1, 1655 and also placed a note in the Rt. 1 box stating that I moved from Rt. 2, 3330.

I was expecting a check the first of the month so I checked both boxes daily. I didn't receive any mail for six days, not even an advertisement in either box, so I went to the Post Office and was informed that an address card had been filled out, which I already knew, and that if I had mail coming I would have received it.

I asked if possibly my mail was there since I had received nothing for a week. The man stated he was very busy (I was the only one there) and he didn't have time to check.

Just for curiosity, I mailed myself a note from the Post Office on March 1 to my new address just to see how long it would take to receive it seven miles away.

Today is March 14 and I've been living here for 22 days and still haven't received the note I mailed 14 days ago or even an advertisement in either box except on March 8, I did receive my check postmarked Feb. 24.

In conclusion, if anyone is sending Christmas cards this year, please mail before April 1 to insure delivery.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

I am writing this letter in regards to some of the recent articles I have read in your newspaper and also the Greenfield paper.

I can only concur with Sheriff Thompson on his statement of some of the courts actions are "rather mysterious", but for different reasons.

In June of last year, I was cited by Highway Patrolman Shaffer for speeding and was ordered to appear in Municipal Court. After waiting three hours, from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. for my case to be heard, I was sure of the outcome. During that productive afternoon, I was entertained by many cases of all classification. But one just case really stuck in my mind. This particular case, like mine, was a speeding case and the arresting officer was the same as mine. Patrolman Shaffer told the court that he clocked this 1970 Chevy at 80 MPH and after giving chase finally discovered this car parked in a drive-way ten miles away. When the judge believed the patrolman could identify a car going 80 MPH and especially at night, I knew my case was soon to be history!

When the time did come for me to have my say, even after telling the judge of the oversize tires on my van and during the past forty years of driving without any citations, I was sure of what the judge would say. And on this date I was not surprised when I heard the final words, "guilty, pay the clerk".

In closing, I will have to agree with Sheriff Thompson, but for just the opposite reasons. I believe the innocent person sometimes isn't given a fair deal.

Four traffic mishaps checked by officers

Two traffic mishaps were reported by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department and two were reported by Washington C.H. police. A Columbus man was cited in one of the accidents.

SHERIFF

THURSDAY, 7 p.m. — A car driven by Ralph N. Agle, 82, Jeffersonville, struck a parked car owned by Blanche C. Phillips, 5510 Inskeep Rd., parked at the Jeffersonville Royal Blue grocery store.

10:50 a.m. — A truck driven by Paul R. Blevins, 28, Dayton, backed from a private drive-way onto CCC Highway-W, two-tenths of a mile east of Bush Road, but in so doing, went off the edge of the drive and crushed the end of a culvert pipe belonging to the Ohio Department of Transportation.

POLICE

THURSDAY, 12:55 p.m. — Cars driven by Ida E. Craig, 52, CCC Highway-E, and Frederick J. Saenger, 62, Columbus, collided at the intersection of North and Temple streets.

Saenger was cited by city police for failure to yield right of way.

A car owned by Phillip P. Lewis, 324 E. Paint St., was struck by a hit-skip driver while parked in the municipal parking lot on S. Fayette Street, sometime between 9:45 p.m. and 11:30 p.m. Sunday.

Several charges filed on youths

Two Sabina youths, ages 16 and 17, have been arrested by Washington C.H. police and charged with several offenses, including from a stolen credit card incident.

Police Specialist Larry Walker and Sgt. William Crooks of the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, received a call from Bell's Shell, 703 Columbus Ave., at 8:10 p.m. Thursday, informing them someone was paying for gas with a stolen credit card.

The two officers were dispatched to the scene and apprehended the boys at the intersection of Columbus Avenue and Elm Street.

World crop outlook mostly good

WASHINGTON (AP) — Experts in the Agriculture Department are watching weather reports from Russia, China and other major grain areas of the world just as American farmers are keeping their eyes glued on local forecasts and the clouds on the horizon.

As farmers and consumers have found the past few years, what happens to grain crops in other countries plays a very real part in determining the total food supply and how much U.S. producers get for what they grow.

Given normal weather, for example, U.S. farmers this year could produce record crops of wheat and livestock feed grains. If so, and if export markets dwindled next year, prices are sure to tumble even further.

Thus, farmers, grain traders and government experts continue to monitor the crop situation in other countries, particularly in areas where bumper harvests could lead to larger world export supplies and in those areas where food shortages are likely if harvests there are skimpy.

A new analysis of the world weather situation raises the possibility that winter grain crops planted last fall for harvest in 1975 are doing well in a number of important areas of the world, including the Soviet Union and Europe, and that the situation is shaping up fairly well for spring planting.

The analysis, published in a weekly weather and crop bulletin issued by USDA and the Commerce Department, covered the six weeks ending March 15. Here are some of its highlights:

— "The unseasonably mild weather continued through February and into mid-March in Europe. Freezing temperatures were rare except in the extreme north and east portions. Even the lowest temperatures were not sufficient to cause any significant damage.

— "In the Mediterranean basin, rains have brought significant relief from the prolonged drought in many of the western basin countries. The eastern Mediterranean has continued to receive timely rains."

— "Timely rains have favored corn and soybean crops in Argentina. Well-above normal rainfall fell across most of Australia except in the southeast and southcentral portions."

— "China has experienced a moderate winter in contrast to last year's drought and severe cold."

The report said there have been conflicting reports about crops in India, including "official tones of optimism" there about the country's prospects for spring-harvested crop production.

"Yet rainfall through the key growing states has been below normal throughout the growing season," the report said. "February was well below normal in most of these states, and rainfall activity during March has been limited to the eastern areas."

Camp Fire Girls celebrate organization's 65th year

CAMP FIRE IS — The cake above may well be the perfect birthday cake for the Camp Fire Girls program. Symbols on top show many facets of Camp Fire activities while this week, March 17-23, is National Camp Fire Week. The organization is now 65 years old, and is likely to have many happy returns.

The Camp Fire Girls are celebrating their 65th birthday this week. The organization was founded in 1910 and incorporated in 1912.

Prompted by a recognition of need for leisure time activities for girls, Dr. Luther Gulick and his wife developed a program to which was not only enjoyable but offered guidance as well. It served to prepare young girls for their responsibilities as homemakers and productive citizens.

THE SYMBOL of Camp Fire Girls is an insignia of crossed logs with red flames inside a blue triangle. The flame has historically symbolized the home; it represents beauty, wonder, warmth and friendship.

The watchword of the Camp Fire Girls is Wohelo. It is composed of the first two letters of the words work, health and love. The triangular shape of the insignia serves as a constant reminder the three-fold meaning of Wohelo.

The slogan of the organization is "Give Service," and their colors have traditionally been red, white and blue.

The Camp Fire law is an expression of responsibility as well as an indication of goals. It states that a girl who participates should worship God, seek beauty, give service, pursue knowledge, hold onto health, glorify work and be happy.

The Law:

Worship God
Seek Beauty
Give Service
Pursue Knowledge
Be Trustworthy
Hold on to Health
Glorify Work
Be Happy

The program is designed for girls of all ages. Girls ages six through eight may join Bluebirds, at nine to 11 they can be Adventurers; ages 12 and 13 participate in Discovery groups, and 14-17 year olds can join Horizon clubs. Those who wish to continue their involvement in Camp Fire Girls may do so as assistant group leaders.

Each year the girls take part in several outings. One of the most entertaining trips of 1974 was a trip to the Cincinnati Zoo, and a day at Lesourdsville Lake has been scheduled this spring.

Monday evening dozens of Bluebirds brought their families to the Mahan Building for a potluck dinner. The girls played with their friends while the parents took the opportunity to become acquainted. Everyone enjoyed the array of foods which were available.

One of the highlights of the Camp Fire Girls' yearly activities is the Grand Council Fire. At the council, the girls are recognized for their achievements and the older Bluebirds "fly up" the ranks to become full-fledged Camp Fire Girls. The council meets each October.

Warm summer weather affords the girls an opportunity to enjoy the outdoors, and two weeks are usually spent at Camp Murdock. There the girls study nature, do crafts, learn outdoor cooking, fish and take trail hikes.

Some of the craft items made by local Camp Fire Girls will be on display at Craig's through Saturday.

However, entertainment is only a part of the Camp Fire Girl program. The girls also learn responsibility to each other and to their community. Their projects include selling balloons for the Heart Fund, Daffodil sales for the Cancer Fund, collecting for the Community Chest and working to keep the Old Cemetery clean and neat.

It is when these "work" projects become enjoyable and fulfilling that the value of Camp Fire Girls is most apparent. Enjoying the fun is easy, but finding pleasure in helping others is an accomplishment of much greater significance.

NEW TOYS! — The "Tanda O Ki Ya," Campfire Girls' group from Eastside Elementary school presented the children of the Fayette Progressive school $18 worth of toys, which will help the children, whose motor coordination is impaired, to learn how to push, pull, turn etc., with their hands, which will later be applied to everyday movements such as turning a doorknob. The girls raised the toy money through candy sales and made their presentation to the school Monday, in honor of "National Campfire

Donation made to handicapped

To the Indians, "Tanda O Ki Ya," meant "love, honor and respect."

It is a fitting name for the group of seven campfire girls from Eastside Elementary School, who chose it to be theirs; for these young women, presently in the fourth grade, have donated their time and money selling candy and having other fund raising projects, in order that they may help children less fortunate than they.

The girls have chosen to do this in honor of "National Campfire Girls' Week," March 17-23, by purchasing "teaching" toys for the children of the Fayette Progressive School, which was previously Sunnyside Elementary School on S. Fayette Street.

The children at the school are now being helped by a licensed physical therapist, who comes from Columbus to the school on Tuesday and Friday and in between those days, works with the more handicapped children of Fayette County who aren't able to attend the school, at their homes.

Up until the campfire girls' donation of the toys, which consist of socker-boopers, ring toss, nerf balls, and a "surprise box," which is a combination jack-in-the-box, knob-turner, handle-puller and button pusher; the children did not have equipment which would improve their impaired motor coordination. Now, through the aid of the toys, they can be taught to turn doorknobs, push doors open and many other common movements required of one's physical coordination in day-to-day living.

Peg Hukill, the physical therapist from Columbus, is being paid for her services through funds appropriated from Federal Title I monies left over from 1974. Carl Whitaker, administrator of the progressive school, heard about the left-over funds and requested a grant for a physical therapist at the school and was awarded $3,367.14, which will carry the program for three months. It started on February 20 and he hopes that it will be able to continue because of the serious need for it, but since the progressive school's operating levy failed on the ballot last November, he fears when the grant money runs out, it will be impossible to replace.

Ms. Hukill is accompanied by an aid on her visits to the progressive school, but states that the most ideal situation for EMR (emotionally mentally retarded) children, is to have a mobile mini rehabilitation team consisting of: an occupational therapist, a speech therapist, a physical therapist, a school psychologist and a medical social worker, to come and work with the pupils and area EMR children at home. The team would also provide instruction for the parents of EMR children, who are often confused as to how to provide the best training.

Unfortunately, a "rehab" team, such as the one described, would run alot higher than $3,367.14. The school is fortunate to have the services of Ms. Hukill and the help and caring of the "Tanda O Ki Ya" Campfire Girls' group from Eastside Elementary school.

'Love, honor, respect' theme

The "Tanda O Ki Ya" Campfire girls, led by Linda Satterfield, meet at her 1024 Center St. home every Thursday. There are seven active fourth grade girls in the group, who attended Eastside Elementary School: Brenda Annon, Marcia Anthony, Cheryl Duffy, La Donna Jackson, Terri Phillips, Debbie Penn and Kris Satterfield.

The group, whose name meant "Love, honor and respect" to the Indians, is assisted in leadership by Betty Annon.

The girls are very active, participating in many county activities such as the Fayette County Fair in the summer, helping with the Heart Fund Balloon Sale and attending camp.

Last year the girls took a trip to the Cincinnati Zoo and toured Pennington Bakery, the Fayette County Airport and the Record-Herald newspaper.

Many awards were received by the group members at the fall council fire, at which time they flew up into the Adventure Camp Fire Girls.

The girls put their artistic talents to work by making crafts for the rest homes in the area.

All members of the group have taken Indian names and are interested in Indian lore.

The girls are: Crista Creamer, Kathy Ginn, Sandy Harris, Debbie Highfield, Sally Robinson, Marilyn Seifried and Becky Wheat.

The group involves itself in presenting programs for Bluebird and Camp Fire Potlaches in March, making hats to display at the Fayette County Fair in the summer and were in charge of arranging the council exhibits at the fair.

They also provided a Headstart group with a tour of the fair, made Christmas ornaments last winter and participated in the annual candy sale.

The "Minnie Ha Ha" Bluebirds, led by Janette Simpson, meets every other Thursday at her 825 Lincoln Drive home. The 11 active members: Ona Roberts, Kelley McConkey, Shelley Justice, Mallisa Corson, Amy Jo Everhart, Joelle Lipscomb, Lora Watson, Karri Shaffer, Shelley Templin, Shelly Morgan and Mary Ann Simpson, are first-graders at Eastside Elementary School. Karen Everhart serves as group assistant.

They have recently completed a Bluebird banner for the group and sold balloons for the Heart Fund.

Torch Bearer's

Desire:

I shall strive to kindle my torch at the fire of adventure and friendship, remembering that what I possess grows in value as I share it with others.

Rose buds on TV-3

The "Rosebud" Bluebirds, led by Brenda Paul and sponsored by Betty Moore and Mary Floyd, meet every other Tuesday at Mrs. Paul's 526 Peabody residence.

Assistant leaders for the group are Millie Streitenberger, Wanda Zimmerman and Grace Lightle. These women helped the girls participate in the Heart Fund Balloon Sale.

Nursing home visitation proves to be rewarding

A project begun in September has proven very successful for the Chickadee Blue Birds of Rose Avenue School. Last fall they visited the Dean View Nursing Home to meet the patients there. They have visited the home every month since that time.

In place of their regular meeting once each month, the 11 girls in the group befriend the 30 patients at the home. They took hand-made cards at Thanksgiving and Christmas and made each of their elderly friends a small gift.

Mrs. Thelma Barnett said the older folks seem very pleased to have the girls visit them. "They really look forward to our coming," she said, "and the girls enjoy going." Although each of the girls seems to have a few favorite people, Mrs. Barnett said the girls are encouraged to "say Hi" to everyone each time they visit.

"I was a little apprehensive the first time...wondering how the patients and the young girls would get along, but it has really been a wonderful experience," said Mrs. Barnett.

In addition to a number of service projects for charitable organizations, the Chickadees have enjoyed several trips to Chillicothe where they have sung at the Church of Christ in Christian Union.

They attended the church last fall to sing at one of the church services and were well received by the congregation. The group was then invited back to take part in the church Christmas program. The girls were happy to oblige and thoroughly enjoyed their two visits. Mrs. Barnett said they expect to attend services at the church again this year.

One of the highlights of the fall schedule last year was a Halloween party at the new McDonald's restaurant.

A credo for Camp Fire

I believe in the future
I believe, therefore, in the Today.
And I try to make my life
A joy to myself and
A pleasure to those about me.
I realize the destiny within me.
I try to find the beautiful in life,
And where it is not, I create beauty.
I feel my responsibility as a citizen of a great nation;
I feel my glory as one of the mothers' of the new generation, which with new eyes and steadier steps, will reach the high places that now are but a purple haze on the horizon.
I believe in the new womanhood, which combines the beauty of the old womanhood with citizenship and social consciousness.
I know I am and hold within me the promise of the future.
I realize my responsibility.
I do not flinch nor falter.
I am a Camp Fire Girl.

Horizon group in charge of Council Fire

The Ta-Wan-Ka-Yu-Stan Horizon Club has had a busy year. The group has participated in the summer day camp, organized displays at the Fayette County Fair, attended the Camp Fire Potlatch dinner and the Annual Council Fire.

During the summer, the girls completed a modeling course from the Fashion Flair Modeling School in Circleville.

They were in charge of the annual Grand Council Fire in October where members received Ho-To-See awards and individual torch-bearer patches for science, needlework and special interests.

The girls are now looking forward to another session of summer activities, including camp.

Members of the group are Lynn Sanderson, Bikki Bock and Joye Gardner. Their leader is Mrs. Frank Sanderson, who is assisted by Mrs. Dean Bebb. Frank Sanderson is the group's sponsor.

'I Yo Tan' is busy group

The I Yo Tan Camp Fire Girls "flew up" from the ranks of Bluebirds in October. Their name is translated as "the great chiefs," which follows their former name as the Indian Chief Bluebirds. They are now an Adventure group.

At their annual tea in December, members of the group were presented with the awards and patches they had earned as third grade Bluebirds. Included were 15 Starbird awards, nine Soloflight awards, and 27 Ho-To-Se recognitions, which are given for community service. In all the girls logged more than 245 hours of service during 1974. The girls also received the beads earned while participating in fall projects.

Last year marked the second time the girls have participated in the Heart Fund balloon sale, a work project they all seemed to enjoy in spite of the bitterly cold weather on the day of the sale.

An unexpected treat enjoyed by the group was their recent trip to see the musical production, "1776," courtesy of their group sponsor, Mrs. Robert Anderson. They had lunch at Burger King, and each girl received a souvenir from Mrs. Anderson.

The I Yo Tan Adventurers have participated in all of the activities sponsored by the council, including the annual trip, the candy sale and the camp program. They are looking forward to future activities, one of which will be the special group celebrations of America's 200th anniversary.

Girls in the group are Andrea Anderson, Nikki Brown, Jenny Craig, Rebecca Edgington, Kim Ferguson, Vickie Shepler, Karla Terry, Lorna Tracy, Anne Tye, Michelle Brickles, Julie Wissinger, Kelly Mickle and Jami Achor.

Meet in peace

The Cherry Hill Elementary School "Happy Faces," led by Jeannie Immell, met at her 1119 Leesburg Ave. home every other Tuesday. There are 11 active second grade girls in the group: Karen Immell, Julie Moran, Lori Wolford, Becky Cupp, Lisa Free, Lisa Ginn, Mary Ann Lutz, Kim Wheeler, Michelle Gill, Robin Wise and Carrie Everhart.

Assisting in leadership of the group is Mrs. Larry Morgan and mascots for the group are Todd Immell and Kathy Moran.

The group has toured McDonald's restaurant and the Cudahy Cheese factory for field trip activities. They have also participated in the Heart Fund Balloon Sale and collected for United Appeal.

Crafts have kept the girls busy, for they have made Legg pantyhose egg banks, Christmas ornaments, turkeys out of potatoes and feathers, finger-paint pictures, Indian headdresses, Halloween decorations and Lincoln penny rings.

The group lists its main goal this year as "to meet in peace."

Winter ice-skating

The "To Lo Ho Re Ca" Camp Fire girls, led by Teresa Tate, meet every other Thursday at Wilson Elementary School, where the girls are sixth-graders.

The group is assisted with leadership by Mrs. Ronald Dowler.

Over the past year, the girls participated in the Heart Fund Balloon Sale, potlatch, skating parties, the Memorial Day parade, an annual field trip, a campout, the Fayette County Fair, canvassing for Community Chest, the council fire ceremony, the annual candy sale and Christmas caroling.

The group was founded in 1970 and six of the girls who established it, remain members: Joyce Brown, Sherry Dowler, Melissa Leeth, Rhonda Pressler, Zina Tate and Lisa Thomas. Lisa Clemens has also joined the group.

Wifa Loho Wedo earn gypsy award

Five members of the Wifa Loho Wedo (with faith, love, honor we do) Discovery Club, Cheryl Wilson, Beth Sanderson, Denise Lee, Glenna Scott and Jayne Sanderson, have earned their Gypsy Award.

This award is the last signpost in outdoor living and the girls had to camp overnight making use of the natural resources and bare essentials to earn the honor.

The sixth member of the Wifa Loho Wedo discovery club is Gina Hamulak. The club members also have participated in summer day camp, displayed various crafts at the Fayette County Fair and attended the Campfire potlatch and annual Council Fire.

At the day camp some of the girls worked in the camp nursery and they helped out as 'whels', older girls who assist the counselors with the younger girls at camp.

Presently, the six members are looming beaded Indian headbands to exhibit at the County Fair in July.

Mrs. Frank Sanderson is the group leader with Mrs. Dean Bebb and Mrs. Perry Davis as assistants. Mr. Jay Smith is the Wifa-Loho-Wedo Club sponsor.

Group earns title of 'trail seekers'

This is the fourth year in Campfire for the Kona-De-Wa-Ki-Ki Club and the group has now earned the title of 'Trail Seekers'.

Beginning the group were Tina Bowers, Janet Robinson, Becky Derreberry, Crystal Lewis and Robin Hicks. They were later joined by Wasitaka Ah-ne-ah club leader, Carrie Ferguson, said her group has been very busy this year. The girls started last year as Blue Birds and in October they 'flew up' to Adventurers.

All the girls enjoyed choosing a new Indian name for the group. The Blue Bird name was Rose Petal Bluebirds and they wanted to keep the 'Rose' in the name, because all the girls attend the Rose Avenue School. The name Waditaka Ah-ne-ah, means Adventurous Rose Flowers in the Dakota Indian language. The girls think the name will fit them for several years to come.

The group took part in all the Camp Fire activities this year including the annual trip to the Cincinnati Zoo, Memorial Day Parade, Fayette County Fair, Community Chest Campaign and the Heart Fund balloon sale as well as the fall 'pow-wow' at Camp Murdoch.

The girls also participated in activities within the group with one of the most meaningful, being a trip to the First Presbyterian Church to visit with the people taking part in the Senior Nutrition Program.

In August, through the courtesy of the Burnett-Ducey V.F.W. Post, the girls went to Columbus and spent a fun day at the Zoo Amusement Park.

Presently the group is making plans to celebrate the Bicentennial of the nation. Their project is called 'We the People' with many activities centering around this theme planned for the next two years.

Wayne group helps at home

GOOD HOPE — In an effort to help her young Bluebird group to realize that they have a responsibility to assist their mothers at home, Mrs. Marty Burr had the Wayne Bluebirds make paper 'helping hands' inside which there were lists of chores which the girls could do for their parents.

Those who completed the chores at home received a homemaking ribbon to symbolize their accomplishment.

The group which has 12 second graders participating is also learning to help people outside their own families. It is satisfying to help others, even people never met by their benefactor.

The Bluebirds' St. Patrick's Day project was to make decorated cups of nuts for the veterans at the Chillicothe Veterans Administration Hospital. The cups were outfitted with colored paper shamrocks and pipes. The group then gave their gifts to the Gray Ladies of Washington C.H. for distribution at the hospital.

Doll-making

The current project of the O-Da-Kays Adventure group is the making of doll pillows. The girls are attaching foam cutouts to small dolls to create the unique effect of a foam doll. Each girl selected colors of foam which would match the decor of her bedroom, and the final products should stand about 12 inches in height.

There are nine girls in the group which meets each Thursday at Wilson school. Most of the girls are fourth graders.

Songbird pincushions

The Eastside Elementary School "Songbirds," led by Sherry Exline, meet at Eastside on Tuesday afternoons after school. Presently there are six, third-grade girls in the group: Tammy Exline, Sherry Adkins, Lisa Leslie, Pammy Taylor, Janet Ryan and Christie Johns.

Lisa Leslie serves as president and Tammy Exline is treasurer.

Past activities of the Songbirds include making "fish" pin cushions, napkin holders and aprons. They are presently involved in creating egg carton waste baskets.

The girls sell candy to build up their treasury for activities such as the trip they have planned to the Ohio State Capital and the Ohio Historical Museum next month. They also enjoyed a Christmas party at the home of Lisa Leslie last winter.

Busy Bunnies

The Belle-Aire Bunnies leader, Shirley Harris, said the girls enjoyed their Christmas party where pizza was served and the group went caroling in the Belle-Aire neighborhood. The girls then exchanged presents over cups of hot chocolate at the Harris residence.

The Bunnies are in their third year of Blue Birds and their leader reports they have been a very active group. The girls participated in this years Council Fire, the annual candy sale and the Heart Fund balloon sale.

They have visited the fire station and they plan to visit a bakery and a green house.

The girls are now working very hard to attain two Camp Fire honors the Star Bird and Solo Flight Award. The group prepared table decorations for the annual potlatch and they are looking forward to the annual May trip.

County has 21 active Camp Fire chapters

There are 29 Camp Fire Girls groups in Fayette County. They provide entertainment and guidance for girls aged six to 18, and most schools in the county have one or more Camp Fire groups affiliated with them.

The Camp Fire Girls can provide worthwhile activity for any area resident interested in becoming a member. Those who are involved develop skills, make new friends, broaden their interests and learn the satisfaction which comes from serving their community.

The Record-Herald would like to take this opportunity to thank the groups and their leaders for the fine contributions they have made during the past year while encouraging those who are not members to contact the club at their school for more information about the Camp Fire Girls.

Eastside Angels

The Eastside Angels are now participating in their second year of Bluebird activity.

The girls have participated in several community projects including collecting for the Community Chest, the Heart Fund balloon sale and making favors for the Chillicothe Veterans Administration Hospital.

First-year group begins service work

Although they are only first-year Bluebirds, the first grade Happy Blue-Belles of Belle-Aire Elementary School have been very active in community service by making gifts for students of the Fayette Progressive School, donating items to the local senior citizens groups and assisting in the Fayette County Heart Fund and Cancer Society collections.

Under leader Mrs. Roger Boswell and assistant leader Mrs. Whitlow Wyatt, two members of the group captured top prize and third place over all members of the Paint Valley Council of Campfire Girls in the annual candy sale during their first year in existence.

During their after-school meetings every other Monday, the Bluebirds continually kept themselves busy by making various awards and working toward different awards in community service, although this is only small recognition for their achievements.

At Christmas, the girls made small felt horse decorations and inserted candy canes in each to distribute to the students of the Progressive School. For their parents, small wall decorations of figures of children praying enhanced the homes while their magnetic owls of brown, orange and white felt and ribbons kept mom's notes and grocery lists in place on the refrigerators.

With their dues and funds they have received selling candy, the girls have purchased items to donate to the Fayette County Senior Citizens to sue as white elephant bingo gifts and have bought a book, entitled, "There's a Wocket in My Pocket," by Dr. Seuss for the Belle-Aire library for use by all students.

The presentation of the book to school librarian Mrs. Bruce Galloway and principal Robert Angus by members of the Blue-Belles was made this week in observance of National Campfire Birthday Week.

During the annual Campfire Girls candy sale, Blue-Belle member Amy Wyatt topped all Campfire Girls in the Paint Valley Council.

As top salesman, Amy received a portable black and white television set. Another Blue-Belle, Julie Boswell, won third place in the candy sale and received a new stereo outfit.

While Bluebirds do not receive all the awards of the older Campfire Girls, they strive to achieve the Ho-To-Se award for community service. The girls of the Belle-Aire Blue-Belles have sold balloons for the Fayette County Heart Fund and will be selling daffodils for the American Cancer Society.

The Bluebirds have also intermingled their work schedule with entertainment and have taken an active part in two skating parties sponsored by the Campfire Girls and enjoyed a trip to Bowland.

Members of the group are Julie Boswell, Melissa Climer, Angela Everhart, Debbie Forsha, Maria Frogale, Stephanie Hatmacher, Loretta Self, Jody Shepler, Jackie Sue Smith and Amy Wyatt.
